Messersmith Tells Inquiry He Wrote Consul General on Eisler's Behalf.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—George S. Messersmith, then assistant secretary of state, acknowledged today he wrote the American consul general at Havana in 1939 urging prompt and personal consideration of Hanns Eisler's application for a visa to reside in the United States.

Testifying before the house committee on un-American activities, Messersmith also said he sent the consul general a copy of a letter than Sumner Welles, then undersecretary of state, had written Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt who had expressed interest in Eisler's case.

The committee is investigating the question whether high government officials have knowingly permitted Communists to come to this country in violation of immigration laws.

Eisler, now a Hollywood song writer, testified yesterday that he joined the Communist party in his native Germany in 1926, but declared he was never active and is not now a Communist.

Takes Exception

Messersmith took vigorous exception when Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) called the letter "almost a directive" for the consul general to give Eisler a visa.

The former state department official declared it was not intended as a directive at all.

Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), committee chairman, commented: "If you can explain yourself out of this, you're good."

Messersmith said the letter to Coert DuBois, the consul general at Havana, was "merely to make it clear to him that this was a case that had angles" requiring careful consideration and personal attention.

Robert Stripling, committee counsel, has asserted that at that time the state department had information from a labor department report that Eisler was a Communist.

Stripling sought to develop that Messersmith knew of the reports Eisler was a Communist.

Dorothy Thompson Named

Under his questioning, Messersmith said his attention first was called to the Eisler case by Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist, in a telephone conversation.

While he could not recall details of the conversation with the columnist, Messersmith said, "she apparently thought the department of state could do many things for refugees that it could not do."

Messersmith said he wrote to Miss Thompson that the state department files contained "considerable evidence x x x that Eisler is a Communist."

Eisler did not obtain a visa at Havana, but subsequently got one at Mexicali, Mexico, through the consul general there.

Entered from Mexico

Eisler, 54-year-old self-styled "free lance artist," entered this country for residence from Mexico in 1940 after having been in and out several times previously.

The committee is seeking to learn why Eisler has been allowed to stay here.

Eisler told the committee he applied for and obtained membership in the Communist party in Germany in 1926 but never was an active member. He said he never paid dues, did not take part in party activities and found that political demands interfered with his musical career.

He acknowledged having written the music for certain songs used by Communist organizations, including the "Comintern March," and said he regards Premier Stalin of Russia as "one of the great historic personalities of our time."

Mrs. Roosevelt's interest in the

2 KILLED, 10 INJURED IN SHIP COLLISION

By The Associated Press

MASSENA, N. Y., Sept. 25—At least two were known dead today and 10 injured following the collision of a collier and an oil tanker in the St. Lawrence river, which set off a terrific explosion and fire on the coal ship.

All casualties were aboard the 2,500-ton Canadian collier Milverton which was a mass of flames from oil spilling over its bow shortly after the collision yesterday. Ten of its crewmen still were unaccounted for late last night.

All 22 men aboard the tanker Irenslake were safe.

The known dead were William Goldworthy, 29, of Verdun, Que., who succumbed to burns in a Massena, N. Y., hospital, and William Robertson of Toronto, who died en route to an Ogdensburg, N. Y., hospital shortly after the collision. An unverified report said F. Dobson of Montreal,

YOUTH KILLED AT CROSSING

Wyandot County Car Believed To Have Hit Side of C. & O. Freight Train.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 25—An Upper Sandusky youth was killed and another seriously injured at 10:30 last night at a C. and O. crossing two miles north of Upper Sandusky.

Thomas Wilson, 19, was killed instantly, and Craig Gottfried, 19, suffered a fractured skull, a broken hip, and chest injuries.

Cause of the accident remained undetermined this morning, but Wyandot County Sheriff B. H. Stansberry and Deputy Carl Stansberry believe that the car ran into the side of the northbound C. and O. freight.

The Gottfried youth, given first aid treatment by Dr. Craig Bowman of Upper Sandusky, was rushed to Bucyrus nospital, where he is reported in serious condition today.

Engineer of the freight train, R. R. Carter of Columbus, stopped at Lovell, six miles north of Upper Sandusky, and phoned back a report of the accident. He was given permission to continue on to Walbridge, near Toledo, by Upper Sandusky Coroner J. A. Probst.

Car Dragged Along Tracks

The car, driven by Gottfried with Wilson the only passenger, was dragged one-third of a mile up the tracks by the northbound freight with Gottfried in it. The car was demolished. Wilson's body was found on the ground near the point of impact.

The railroad crossing, known as the McBeth crossing, is on the Wharton road. It has a slight grade and the marker is clearly visible from the road.

The two youths were traveling east on the Wharton road, returning home after visiting with another friend, Cletus Gottfried of west of Upper Sandusky.

The car was found on the west side of the tracks indicating that the car run into the side of the train.

Wilson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wilson of 202 East Wyandot avenue, Upper Sandusky. He had been employed in his father's tire shop since graduating from Upper Sandusky High school last June. He was a prominent athlete in high school.

Gottfried Is Farmer

Gottfried is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gottfried of near Upper Sandusky. Gottfried has been farming since graduating from Upper Sandusky High school in June.

Thomas Wilson was born in Crane township, Wyandot county, Nov. 4, 1929, to Gale and Dorothy Irene Swan Wilson. Besides his parents, he is survived by three sisters and a brother, Mrs. Virginia Schwable of Ada, Mrs. Lillian McClain of near Upper Sandusky, Mrs. Miriam Holtshouse of Bucyrus, and Jack Wilson, living at home.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in the Salem United Brethren Evangelical church east of Upper Sandusky. Rev. John Martin will officiate. Friends may call at the Wilson home after noon Friday. Place of burial has not yet been determined.

Suicide Needs 2nd Try To Accomplish Purpose

By The United Press

PEEBLES, O., Sept. 25—Rev. C. L. Buehler, 61, pastor of the Methodist church here today jumped twice from the parsonage roof before he succeeded in killing himself.

Witnesses said the minister, ill last year, climbed a ladder and plunged 12 feet to a cement sidewalk. Only slightly injured, he remounted the ladder and, before friends could interfere, jumped again.

On his second leap, the minister suffered a fractured skull and died almost instantly.

FOURTH YOUTH DIES IN CRASH AT CLARIDON

Duane Herron, Who Would Have Been 16 Today, Latest Victim of Accident.

The death toll reached four today in the weekend auto crash at Claridon as Duane Herron, who would have celebrated his sixteenth birthday today, died of injuries received in the accident.

The Herron boy died at 12:45 a. m. in City hospital. He never regained consciousness. An emergency brain operation performed by Dr. Harry LeFever, Columbus surgeon Sunday night in hopes of saving the lad's life apparently could not counterbalance the sum of his injuries. They included fractures of the skull, both ankles and internal injuries.

Three Others Dead

Duane Herron's life must be added to those of the three other youths killed virtually instantly when the speeding automobile containing the seven Marion youths crashed into a tree after failing to make a curve on Route 95 at the eastern edge of Claridon at 10:30 p. m. last Saturday.

Still in serious condition at City hospital are the three remaining survivors who were pulled out of the wrecked automobile, Charles Rentschler, 14, Earl Foster, 15 and George H. McCloskey, 27, the driver.

Rentschler is fully conscious today and believed out of danger according to Dr. Jay L. Plymale, attending surgeon. Dr. Plymale stated however that reconstructive surgery is to be delayed for several weeks. In addition to the fracture of the left leg, jaw and skull, Rentschler's right lung is collapsed and a right rib fractured.

Foster's condition is good today, Dr. Plymale stated. He is expected to make a full but prolonged recovery. Foster's injuries included fractures of the left arm, left thigh and right leg.

The condition of McCloskey and Foster remains "unchanged," it is reported at City hospital.

No Statement Taken

The seriousness of their condition has prevented the state highway patrol from obtaining the story of the accident. Patrolman W. H. Culp from the highway patrol endeavored to talk to the injured earlier in the week but no coherent details could be obtained.

Further, parents of the youths involved seem to know little concerning the acident, being for the

30,000 MINERS IDLE IN BRITISH STRIKE

By International News Service

LONDON, Sept. 25—Britain's second wave of coal strikes in less than a month went into its third day today with 30,000 idle workers tying up bitterly needed production in 20 mines.

Blantyre miners rejected a "back to work" pledge made by their leaders and continued a stoppage that began Tuesday and spread quickly to other pits in the Scottish coal fields.

The national coal board estimated that the unauthorized walkouts are depriving Britain daily of about 15,000 tons of coal badly needed in the nation's industrial crisis.

The resumption of production in four shut mines today was almost completely countered by new walkouts in three other pits.

The wave of Scottish strikes broke out less than two weeks after the settlement of a month-old wildcat stoppages in the Yorkshire fields which cost the nation about 600 thousand tons of coal.

County Adds $500 To Roxie Green Reward

A committee of 10 residents of Prospect and community was named last night to conduct a campaign to raise a reward fund for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the abductor of Roxie Ann Green, 16-year-old Prospect schoolgirl.

Added to the reward fund to be raised in Prospect will be $500 posted by the Marion county commissioners. The commissioners posted this amount this morning after receiving a request for such action from the Prospect reward committee.

The meeting was held in the Prospect council chamber and was attended by County Prosecutor James E. Reed, who advised on the legal aspects of the matter.

Rev. Ralph Knoop, pastor of the Prospect Methodist church, was named chairman. Secretary and treasurer is George Pugh, president of the Prospect Citizens bank. Other members are Dale Sparks, James F. Lauer, Dale Bachelder, C. O. Laucher, Harold Anderson, R. S. Watkins, H. D. Osborn and Art Green.

Amount Not Set

The amount to be sought in the reward fund drive still has not been definitely decided. The matter will be given further consideration at a public meeting in the Prospect council room at 8 p. m. Friday. It is expected solicitation also will start at this meeting. Members of the committee said today it was probable a canvass of the residential area and business district of Prospect also would be made.

Search for the girl continued today but on a reduced scale, since leads developed earlier in the week have been checked without success. The sheriff's office has been handicapped too by the necessity of serving a large number of subpoenas for today's session of the grand jury.

However, Deputy Sheriff Edgar Fink was continuing the investigation in the Prospect area.

Inquiry at Chesterville

Carl E. Green, father of Roxie, also took an active hand in the investigation today. He and R. S. Watkins of Prospect went to Chesterville in Morrow county this morning to learn if any clues to Roxie's whereabouts could be uncovered there.

Roxie with a school bus load of other Prospect pupils had attended a football game in Chesterville Friday afternoon. She disappeared about 7:30 o'clock Friday night as she walked four miles home after the bus returned to Prospect.

Mr. Green hoped to find someone at Chesterville who might have talked to Roxie at the game.

Seek Trace of Mother

The search extended to Columbus yesterday when Deputy Sheriff M. E. Baldwin made a trip there to talk to the father of Mr. Green. He was attempting to learn the whereabouts of Carl Green's former wife, the mother of Roxie and the other Green children.

No information was developed other than that the former Mrs. Green's mother, Mrs. Adelaide Russ, had moved to Cleveland in 1938. Baldwin was unable to trace the present whereabouts of Roxie's mother.

Mrs. Catharine Justice of Chillicothe, a sister of Mr. Green, arrived in Prospect last night by bus and went immediately to the Green home to be with the family.

RUSS CHARGE PACT VIOLATION

Say U. S., Britain Override Potsdam Agreement in Opposing UN Memberships.

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 25—Russia charged today that the United States and Britain were violating the Potsdam agreement by opposing the admission of Soviet satellites to membership in the United Nations.

The new Soviet attack on the big western powers took place in the security council.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, sitting as council president for this month, declared he would not vote for Italy's admission unless the council also admitted Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland.

The United States and Britain supported Italy, but objected vigorously to admission of the Communist-dominated governments of Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. They insisted that a separate vote be taken on each of the five ex-enemy states.

Polish Foreign Minister Zygmunt Modzelewski touched off the new big power fight by proposing formally that the council give blanket approval to all five ex-enemies.

U. S. Prepares Move

The United States whipped a new Balkans proposal into shape for prompt United Nations action with the evident purpose of seeking strong international reinforcement for the Truman doctrine in Greece.

The delegation under the leadership of Secretary of State Marshall was reported to have worked out already a tentative draft of a resolution by which the UN assembly would set up what some officials called a "fairly large" commission to maintain a constant watch on Greece's borders with Yugslavia, Albania and Bulgaria.

The commission, American authorities contend, would serve by its very presence to minimize the number of border incidents and otherwise help protect Greece against alleged Communist aggressions—which is also the stated political objective of the Truman doctrine in that country.

Slated for Action

The whole subject was slated for action by the assembly's 55-nation political commission due to meet at 2 p. m., with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt designated to assist American member Warren

FIRM ADMITS HIKE IN PROFIT

Price Inquiry Told Earnings Double 1939 but Executive Gives "Justification."

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25 — A Cleveland manufacturing executive today told the midwest congressional price investigating subcommittee that his firm had doubled its profit since 1939, but he offered what he termed "justification" for the increased earnings.

C. J. Frantz, president of the Apex Electrical Manufacturing Co., producers of vacuum cleaners, washing machines and ironers, declared:

"In our own experience we acknowledge a profit rate that is about double that attained in the depressed period of 1939, but I would like to say something about that profit increase and why we believe it is not only justified, but essential to a continuing business that will help maintain the economy of the nation and provide work and a living income to its employes."

Lists 5 Points

Frantz listed these five principal points in further defense of the firm's higher profits:

"The 1939 rate of earning was insufficient for expansion or even

BELIEVES CALL FOR CONGRESS MAY NOT COME

Hopes Aid Can Be Accomplished Without Special Session; Deplores Waste.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—President Truman asked Americans today to save food for Europe's hungry and said he still hopes emergency aid can be met without a special session of congress.

In a news conference, Mr. Truman left open, however, the possibility that the legislators may be summoned into an emergency session. That is a question to be explored at a conference he will have Monday with Republican and Democratic congressional leaders.

Asked whether he thinks a return of rationing and price controls might be necessary, he replied that those are matters for congress to decide.

In appealing for food conservation, the President observed that it would help budgets of American families as well as providing food to combat hunger in Europe.

Talk Covers Wide Range

His 20-minute talk with reporters ranged over a wide field of the problems involved in helping Europe get through the winter and back on its feet, economically speaking.

The President said:

►A decision on a special session of congress for emergency aid for Europe will flow from a meeting he has scheduled Monday with congressional leaders of both parties. He hopes a special session can be avoided and has an open mind on the subject.

►On the long-range Marshall plan for helping European countries which help themselves and each other, careful study will precede any action and the government will move cautiously.

►A special committee of citizens has been named to consider the immediate food problem and advise "on ways and means of carrying out the necessary conservation effort."

►Other committees have been assigned the responsibility of studying the report drawn up by 16 nations in Paris, outlining their needs under the Marshall plan.

"Save, Don't Waste"

Mr. Truman refrained from terming as voluntary rationing his immediate plan to save food. Repeatedly, he said, it calls for saving food, for not wasting food.

Mr. Truman said he has been advised that Americans waste the equivalent of 70,000,000 bushels of wheat. Presumably he meant 70,000,000 bushels a year.

The proposal for conserving foods stemmed directly from a recommendation of a committee of cabinet members who have been studying world food programs. This committee is headed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and includes Secretary of State Marshall and Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

Mr. Truman released their report, plus a statement of his own on it and on the Marshall plan.

Mr. Truman said:

"The cabinet (food) committee made it clear x x x that definite steps to conserve on use of food stuffs at home and reduce the feeding of grain to livestock will be essential if we are to make our fullest contribution towards meeting minimum foreign needs and at the same time relieve the upward pressure on prices at home."

Naming Special Committee

Consequently, he said, he is naming the special citizens food committee headed by Charles Luckman, president of Lever Brothers, Cambridge, Mass., to lead a conservation campaign.

At one point, he said he would not say how many millions of dollars would be involved in stopgap aid to Europe. He acknowledged that a shortage of dollars in other lands causes a shortage of food and fuel.

Mr. Truman also was not willing to go so far as to say that a return to rationing and price controls, or to other wartime controls might be necessary to support America's program to combat hunger and communism in Europe.

Those, he suggested, are matters for congress to determine.

Answering statements of some Republican leaders that they have not been kept informed on world conditions, Mr. Truman said he was letting them know as soon as he found out himself. He pointed to a copy of the report on the Marshall plan, enclosed in green cardboard folders and tied with

15-Year-Old Boy Trapped After Filling Station Owner Detects Arrangements for Burglary

R. L. Young, owner of Young's Pure Oil Station at 415 North Main street, nipped the plans of a youthful would-be-burglar in the bud last night.

At closing time Mr. Young noticed that the bolt was missing from the window in the men's restroom, located on the south side of the station, suspecting a possible burglary, he decided to lay a trap.

He arranged to hide inside the station when his employes locked up at 10 p. m. as usual and instructed them to return later and give assistance if necessary. They were to hide in the house just to the south of the station where they could watch the unlocked window.

That part of the planning went amiss, however, when the burglar entered before the others had a chance to return and Mr. Young had all the excitement himself.

Brief Wait

Shortly after 10 p. m. he took his place in a dark back room while the other attendants locked up as usual and left the premises. Within a half-hour the waiting period paid off when the window opened and a 15-year-old youth, dressed in dark clothing, climbed through into the station.

He stealthily entered the main room and opening the cash register removed the little over $4 in cash which Mr. Young had conveniently left as bait, then started investigating contents of other drawers.

Mr. Young said perhaps three or four minutes had passed and he had waited to make certain there was no accomplice with the youth. He then stepped from his darkened hiding place and collared the boy, who was unarmed.

Begged for Release

The youth, according to Mr. Young, "jumped about three feet" when he was taken by surprise and immediately begged to be released, repeating his request often enough to become a trifle incoherent. Mr. Young kept him cornered while he called information and asked them to send the police. The officers arrived in a "very few minutes," Mr. Young said, and the youth was taken to City jail, where he was questioned before being taken to the Marion county detention home.

The boy told police he had removed the bolt from the window about 6 p. m. while in the restroom, planning to return later. He also admitted stealing a fishing tackle box earlier in the evening from a car parked on West Columbia street, between Main and Prospect streets. He told officials his bicycle was parked at the Parish Dairy, which is located near the station just to the rear of Prospect street.

City police said the boy was arrested in 1945 for breaking and entering the Disbenentt Filling Station on North Main street. Details of that theft were not available at police station and details and disposition of the case were withheld for the time being by juvenile authorities.

Last night's entry is the second at his filling station within a year, Mr. Young said. Just a year ago this month the station was broken into and approximately $250 worth of guns stolen from the stock which Mr. Young carries for sale.

The date for giving the boy captured last night a hearing in juvenile court has not been set, officials there said, and will not be known until the return of Judge Edward Ruzzo, who is out of the city.

Escaping Gas Blamed For Lakeview Blast

By The Associated Press

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Sept. 25—Carl Ruhl, owner of the Golden Ruhl hotel at nearby Lakeview, said today that escaping gas from a hot water heater probably caused the explosion which wrecked the two-story frame hotel yesterday.

He estimated the damage at $30,000. Ruhl said that he was told the odor of gas was noticed in the hotel shortly before the blast.

Five persons were in the building at the time, but all escaped with minor injuries.

Firemen from Lakeview and Russells Point helped fight the resulting fire. The hotel, on Indian Lake, once was known as the Scheff hotel.

Man Who Wed Day After Wife's Death, Loses Job

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25—A widower Friday, a newlywed Saturday, radio disc jockey Frank (Rodeo Roy) Nicholson was without his microphone today—while he honeymooned with his heiress bride Ann Cooper Hewitt and while officials continued to probe the death of his former wife.

Nicholson's sponsor and radio station KSFO announced in a joint public statement that his recorded programs of hillbilly music "will continued at the same hours . . . . but will be handled by a new master of ceremonies, 'Buck' Smith . . . ."

Interviewed after he and his bride attended the late Mrs. Nicholson's funeral in Sacramento Tuesday, Nicholson had announced:

"If all this notoriety causes me to lose my radio job, I guess I'll have to open a hamburger stand."

An autopsy yesterday failed to determine the exact cause of death of Mrs. Gertrude Nicholson, whose death last Friday preceded by 24 hours the wedding of Nicholson and the thrice-wedded Miss Hewitt. An overdose of headache tablets had been blamed in a coroner's preliminary report.

Tests were being made by a toxicologist but that the findings were not yet known.

Miss Hewitt in 1936 charged that she had been duped into sterilization to prevent her giving birth to any heirs to the Hewitt fortune, but the physicians she named were absolved and similar accusations against her mother were dropped.

Now, says Miss Hewitt, she doesn't think she's sterile, after all.

OHIO WORKERS SUE FIRM, 2 CIO UNIONS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25 — A pair of workers claimed today two CIO unions and a company had violated their "job protection right" and looked to the Taft-Hartley labor law for redress.

Their contentions were contained in separate petitions filed with the regional office of the national labor relations board and were the first of their kind filed here under the new legislation.

One of the men—Charles Doehring, 30, of Cleveland—was rehired last Monday by the firm he complained against, the Brewing Corp. of America. But he said he had been laid off his shipping job last August on instructions of the CIO Brewery Workers Union to that company.

This was done, said Doehring, solely because of his activities on behalf of the AFL Teamsters Union early last spring when an organizational campaign was going on.

The other man is Marion A. Symington of Swanton, O., and his grievance was solely against a union, the CIO-United Auto Workers, Local No. 12 of Toledo.

He said he had been suspended from the union for 99 years and asked the board for withdrawal of the suspension, claiming it hurt his chances to find another job.

Spokesmen for the Brewery Workers Union and the Brewing Corp. of America denied their organizations discriminated against Doehring.

Melvin Schultz, president of local unit No. 12 (Toledo Auto Lite), said Symington had promoted dual membership between the Mechanics Educational Society of America and the UAW. He said this caused constant friction between the two groups.

NLRB Regional Director M. S. Ryder said an investigation was under way.

It is estimated that it will cost from $570,000,000 to $760,000,000 to rebuild the devastated center of Rotterdam.

BAR GROUP STUDIES MILITARY JUSTICE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25 — The American Bar association today weighed proposals for the betterment of military justice.

A resolution urging such legislation—and another demanding that the veterans administration use lawyers for all its legal work—were to be offered for action at a full ABA assembly session today.

Bar association committees, following earlier investigations, have reported a need of changing practices which they said, have aroused public distrust of courts martial.

Long strides toward making the federal judiciary an efficiently functioning part of the democratic structure were reported last night by associate Justice Harold H. Burton of the supreme court.

"Our federal courts today are coordinated, the supreme court docket is current, the supreme court is adequately housed and equipped, simplified federal rules of civil and criminal procedure are in effect," Justice Burton told a meeting of ABA's judicial administration section.

"The eyes of the world watch each new test of the constitutional structure of the United States. The keystone of that structure is its independent judiciary.

J. C. McRuer, high justice of Ontario, urged united effort by the Canadian and American bars to bring about establishment soon of "a temple of justice for the judicial settlement of all international disputes."

The Uncle Kinsey Players will close their 1947 tour by playing a week's engagement at the Marion county fairgrounds, beginning next Monday night. Following a season of many years' standing the company opened the season in Canton last May, and for the past 20 weeks has toured Ohio in specially built trailer caravans. The show will winter here in Marion at the close of the sason.

The tent theater will open each night at 7:15 and curtain time is scheduled for 8:15. A complete change of program will be offered during each of the seven nights, opening each week with "Toby's Family Troubles," a comedy in three acts. Next year will mark the sixtieth anniversary of the show which is now owned and managed by the third generation of the Kinsey family. The show, for many years was known as the Kinsey Kinsey Kompany.

Answering Vishinsky

THE speeches by Russian delegate Andrei Vishinsky and British delegate Hector McNeil before the UN assembly exemplify the differences between the Russian and what might be called the western approach to international problems. Vishinsky's speech was full of ranting, roaring and name-calling. McNeil's speech in reply wasn't supercharged with emotion, nobody was accused of dire plots against world peace; there was no oratory of the kind that used to echo through Berlin's sportspalast in the days of the third reich.

Regarding Vishinsky's warmonger accusation, McNeil said: "When Mr. Vishinsky argued, I have no doubt in perfect sincerity, that his government was distressed and angered by the statement by individual Americans that Russia was preparing for war and was a warmonger, I wanted to say this: The reply is not to imprison any individual or to suppress American or British newspapers. The reply is to open the doors to Russia so that the nations can see what is going on. The reply is not to criticize others because they allow their citizens to speak freely but to urge that all countries should tolerate views freely expressed by citizens of free states."

It is unlikely that the British delegate's words had any effect, for as he observed in another part of his speech, the criteria by which the Russians establish one situation as evil is used tomorrow to establish another as good. In the Russian vocabulary, externally at least, there are no shades of opinion. Every situation is pictured in terms of black and white—Russia's side is always white, that of the "decadent democracies" always black.

Watch for the Gimmick

HEADQUARTERS strategists of labor unions who are thinking up cute ways to get around the Taft-Hartley act had better watch for the gimmick.

For example, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers will instruct all locals to demand clauses in new contracts pledging employers to boycott the law, admittedly a good angle because there undoubtedly are employers in the electrical industry, as there were in the automobile industry, who will pledge anything in the hope of peaceful labor relations.

However, if the union officials who are paying lawyers to think up clever dodges to evade the intent of the law—to break up their monopoly of the labor supply—will borrow a copy of the labor management act of 1947 and read it they'll find in section 10(B) that any person may file a charge of unfair labor practice against any employer or any union and that the national labor relations board thereafter may take action whether union officials and employers pledged to boycott the board like it or not.

It will bear repeating from time to time that the labor management act of 1947 was passed by congress to nip in the bud an arrangement whereby a handful of union executives and a handful of business executives were threatening to establish a minority monopoly over the labor supply of the United States.

Monument to Futility

AS ONE studies the grandiose plans for a United Nations headquarters in New York, then looks at the unhappy predicament in which UN finds itself, doubt arises as to whether the buildings ever will be used for their intended purpose. Will they be like the trousseau never worn, the bassinet never filled? Or like the handsome League of Nations headquarters in Geneva, a cenotaph holding the peace hopes of an earlier era?

Let us hope these magnificent buildings will not be another monument to futility. But, without seeming flip or cynical, one might well suggest that the builders of these edifices hold up their work to see if the space might not better be utilized as parking lots.

Dirty Deal for Pigs

NEVER a nation to let productive effort go unnoticed, Russia announced awards for swineherds who have prolific sows in their charge. These lucky rustics will receive the order of Hero of Socialist Labor, Order of Lenin and order of Red Labor Banner.

This is fine for the swineherds, but what of the sows whose prolific farrowing makes heroes of the masters? They don't even receive an "E" flag to fly above the sty. Hardly in line with the Marxian concept, is it?

Did You Know

Contrary to popular impression, platinum and associated metals are widely distributed, although they are found in commercial quantities in only a few localities.

Labor's Bill of Rights

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Called Proper Title for Taft-Hartley Act.

ONCE upon a time, the Republican party won a long series of elections because it claimed credit for freeing the slaves. It is not unreasonable to make the startling suggestion now that the 1947-48 Republican party make a similar claim for freeing the union workers. It may be a bit fantastic to call Senator Taft the new Emancipator, but the fact that such a claim seems fantastic is mostly due to the effectiveness of the propaganda against the Taft-Hartley act.

The art of publicity is to create a belief, whether it is true or false. In applying publicity, a first principle is to make an assertion with the utmost boldness and simplicity. Second, it should be said over and over, through the written and spoken word and by every conceivable means. Third, it should never be admitted that there is another equally reasonable side to the question.

Effective Campaign

Union leaders have applied this technique with the greatest skill against the Taft-Hartley act. The campaign against it has been bold and continuous. No money has been spared by labor leaders. Many Democratic politicians, including the President, have helped. The result is that vast numbers of Americans, who know little of what is in the act, believe it is inimical to the interests of the workers.

Thus, an act which, with equal publicity skill on its behalf, might have been known as a treasure of freedom, is known to millions as a measure of slavery. This is a preposterous notion, but preposterous notions have been put over before. It should be remembered that not many years have passed since many people believed that stocks would double 1929 prices, that Roman Catholics were planning a bloody revolution, that free silver would make people rich or that England would have to be fought to win Oregon. And not so many years before that, people were convinced that old New England witches had the power to fly to the moon on broomsticks.

Defense Poorly Handled

Although it is quite understandable, it is regretable that Republican sponsors of the Taft-Hartley act have permitted the public to be swamped by propaganda. Perhaps this is because they have been inept as publicists. They have used the wrong arguments. They have talked about the act as being against labor leaders instead of the fact that the act is for union members. They have talked too much about the benefits of the act for the bosses, when the fact was that the bosses were aware of the benefits and needed no conversion.

All this is shown in an article in the current issue of the magazine "Look" by Claude Robinson. The article reveals the results of a number of polls about the Taft-Hartley act by the Opinion Research Corporation. Robinson shows that most workers—union and non-union—believe the act should not have been passed. But he also shows that most workers—union and non-union alike—favor the 10 vital provisions of the act. Thus, the workers of the country favor what is in the act, although they are ignorant of its contents.

No Apologies Called For

The lessons of all this to Republicans should be clear. They should not apologize and answer criticism. They should not be on the defensive. They should claim credit for freeing the workers. If they have sufficient fortitude, they might emulate the boldness of Roosevelt, who claimed that the Wagner act was the worker's Magna Charta. Perhaps it is too late to call the new act a Magna Charta. But how about calling it the worker's Bill of Rights?

Enter the Grade-A Bootlegger

Milk reportedly is being bootlegged in Paris.

Shades of Andrew Volstead.

Is France in for an era of clabber-runners and cream easies?

Must milk-thirsty citizens negotiate surreptitiously with furtive denizens of the underworld for a can of evaporated, "right off the boat?"

Imagine a couple of yeggs sauntering into a French nursery and demanding rhenacingly "Where ya gettting yer formula?"

Why, out of the situation may come a process calculated to set sanitation back 1,000 years . . . . bathtub pasteurization.

Incidentally, the milk bootlegging is due to a shortage attributed in large measure to a prolonged drouth, an explanation which will inevitably lead city slickers to inquire "Do they have to have rain to water it?"

No War Unless It's Desired

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEVER in history has a war occurred unless one party to war desired to risk fortune at battle. As long as both or all parties to a probable war fear its consequences or desire peace, the actual fighting does not ensue. There comes a time, however, when the peace-loving nation can no longer take the brow-beating, the insults, the impudence of the war-desiring country. Then, curiously enough, the peaceful country makes war and risks death by the quickest process of war.

When the Russians insist that Finland made war on Russia, that is precisely what is meant, for the Finns had the alternative of being gobbled up in a friendly manner or fighting to eventual defeat. At any rate, the fight saved the dignity of the Finnish people. Similarly, China, which might have done extraordinarily well—and been better off than she is today—had Chiang accepted Japan's terms in 1931, chose to fight it out and, of course, the Japanese have always contended that China made war on Japan.

From "Plain Talk"

All of this is a preface to the American-Russian situation which had arose because the United States came to Russia's rescue when Germany actually defeated the Russians. The emphasis on heroic Stalingrad will not be borne out by history, for had the Germans not faced American planes, American tanks, and ultimately American troops, food and supplies, it is doubtful whether Stalingrad would have mattered. As Herbert G. Moore points out in "Plain Talk," "actually, the Nazis at the high tide of their advance occupied more than 800,000 square miles of Russian territory. While this represented only about one-tenth of Russia's total land surface, it encompassed one-third of her populated area. In other words, Russia's armed forces . . . were pushed back so far that all of France, Great Britain, pre-war Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands, Denmark, Spain and Portugal could have been tossed into the lost territory."

He adds: "In the matter of casualties, Russia's losses were equally colossal — approximately 7,000,000 soldiers killed, 6,000,000 civilians dead as a result of war action, and only the Kremlin knows how many millions more were permanently disabled . . . These losses, both in territory and in manpower, were inflicted by a nation with a population about one-third that of the Soviet Union and at a time when many of the Nazi's best divisions were engaged elsewhere. In other words, Hitler administered this terrific beating . . . with one hand almost tied behind his back."

We Had To Pay

As the United States relieved Russia of German pressure, Stalin chose to force upon this country almost the role of a tribute-payer. For every consideration, this country had to pay in cash and when our military men chose to prepare adequately for a second front rather than to burst in unprepared, Stalin conducted a propaganda within the United States that hampered and embarrassed our government.

When the fighting was over, the Russians made demands which gave every appearance of a decision to adopt Hitler's role in Europe. The United States became the objective enemy. At first, official Americans, who had been dealing with Russia during the war, assumed that Russians were suffering a postwar inflated emotionalism. They were adequately warned by students of Russian history and policy that they were wrong; that Stalin had chosen the one policy that was consistent with Russian purposes.

Time came when such patient souls as Harry Truman, George Marshall, Averell Harriman realized that Russia was belaboring the United States with the object of forcing this country to start a fight. This in effect, in language gentle and diplomatic, both Marshall and Bidault of France have now said.

There's a Limit

But Russia knows that the American people want no war. They know that we will pay a price for peace. But what price? They are now certain that we will not pay any price for peace—that our patience does give, that our anger can be aroused. But at what point? They have tested us and each time we have appeased them. They cannot discover the nature of our people; they cannot discover exactly at what point we shall take no more. But this is certain: if they continue testing, war is inevitable.

"Mach Numbers"

Aeronautics engineers just now are more interested in the "mach number" of a flight than in miles an hour.

The speed of sound at any given temperature is given a mach number of one. The recent record-breaking flight at Muroc, Calif., had a mach number of .83. The plane flew at 83 per cent of the speed of sound.

The engineers are interested in mach numbers because planes undergo great stresses at and close to the speed of sound. Once through this range into "supersonic" speeds, it's expected to be clear sailing, but meanwhile planes must be built that can stand up at "transsonic" speeds.

Block To German Unity

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IN the approach to the German problem, which is crucial in a world settlement, we come upon the most dangerous and destructive consequence of a policy of firm containment which the world knows as the Truman doctrine.

Here, ever since Secretary Byrnes went to Stuttgart in 1946 and addressed the German nation, we have been preparing the ground for a gigantic diplomatic disaster.

Since the policy of containment envisages the western zones of Germany as an essential part of the "unassailable barriers" in the path of the Soviet Union, it has been deemed necessary to evoke the sentiment of German "unity" and to cultivate the national patriotism of the Germans even to the point where we have allowed the ideal of the unity of Germany to displace the ideal of the unity of Europe.

The underlying assumption, which is implicit though unavowed, has been that since Germany has lost the eastern provinces to the Russians and to a Russian satellite, Poland, German national feeling will naturally be directed against the Soviet Union. Historical experience and the logic of the situation indicate, I believe, that this is a profound miscalculation.

We are encouraging the Germans to something—namely, national unity—which we cannot give them except by going to war with Russia. Germany cannot have unity, as all Germans must understand unity, except by recovering the lost provinces of eastern Germany. We would have to conquer Russia and Poland in order to restore the eastern provinces to Germany.

Division of Poland

But Russia can return them to Germany whenever she decided that an alliance with Germany is a vital Russian interest. This can be done by performing partition of Poland, an act which the men who signed the Molotov-Ribbentrop pact in 1939 could carry out if they deemed it expedient and necessary. Or if they deemed it inexpedient to partition Poland again, but necessary to enlarge the truncated Reich, they can offer the German nationalists compensation in western Europe and elsewhere for the lost provinces in the east.

Just as they gave the Poles the German provinces as compensation for the territory east of the Cruzon line, so they could offer Austria to the Germans, perhaps Alsace-Lorraine, perhaps Denmark, perhaps the Netherlands and the mouth of the Rhine.

We do not need to know exactly what the Soviet Union would offer the Germans for an alliance. It is enough to know that in an auction for the support of the Germans the Russians could offer them great prizes, and that we can offer the Germans absolutely nothing—except some help in rising from squalor and misery and prostration to the position of a fifth-rate power living a prosaic and stunted national existence.

The idea that we can foster the sentiment of German unity, and make a truncated Germany economically strong, can keep her disarmed, and can use her in the anti-Soviet coalition, is like trying to square the circle. Applied to Germany, the policy of containment is a bobby trap, constructed by men who do not understand the politics of power.

Unity Destroyed

The controlling fact in the German problem is that by the advance of the Red Army beyond Berlin and because of the annexations which resulted from it, the Soviet Union has destroyed the unity of the Reich and has acquired the power to restore the unity of the Reich.

The western nations cannot restore the unity of Germany, and it is therefore suicidal for them to incite the sentiments of unity, and to treat the western portion of Germany as a prospective ally in the operation of the Truman doctrine.

If Germany is to become allied on either side of the diplomatic conflict, the precedents of history and the logic of the situation tell us that when she is strong enough to be a useful ally to anyone, she will become the ally to Russia.

The more we bring what remains of Germany after the dismemberment of the east under the unified control of a German government, the more profitable and the easier it will be for Berlin and Moscow to make a deal and become allied. If Hitler and Stalin, Ribbentrop and Molotov, could make a deal, how can we dare to suppose that a Germany ruled by Communists, Socialists and Nationals would not make a deal.

And if we carried the policy to its ultimate end, as Mr. Hoover has asked us to do, and made a separate treaty of peace with western Germany, we should have made a German-Russian alliance even more certain. The German government with which we had made peace would again be a sovereign power; it would have to have at a very minimum the sovereign right of an independent state to have diplomatic agents abroad and to receive them, and to use the diplomatic apparatus of codes, couriers and agents.

Can't Restore Unity

Having made a separate treaty of peace with us, the new central German government would necessarily have to begin negotiations for separate treaties of peace with its eastern neighbors—with Poland, Czechoslovakia and with Russia.

Once we recognized the consequences of the fact that Germany had been dismembered in her eastern provinces, it becomes plain that we cannot use western Germany to contain Russia. It becomes plain, too, that the unity

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The World Series of 1947

World peace, Pakistan, Greece, inflation, Gromyko and Henry Wallace may get back in the picture. But not until after the world series.

What chance have Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, Trygve Lie, Dr. Evatt and the New Republic against Joe DiMaggio, Pete Reiser, an official box score and Yogi Berra? Who is Gen. Marshall compared with Pewee Reese? Can an agenda eclipse a base hit? What does Vishinsky know about the hit and run?

For the next few days the only "general assembly" that will grip public attention will be three men on bases at one time. And a "security council" will mean any huddle to protect a one-run lead.

The 1947 series is between the Yankees and Dem Bums, the Brooklyn club. This localizes a war in a way never yet approached by the United Nations.

It just goes to show what can be accomplished in any new field where the speeches are limited and no interpreters are ever needed.

If you put all our ball clubs in Flushing or at Lake Success and placed their aspirations and abilities before a collection of global diplomats you would still be waiting for the first pitch on the April opening.

And any progress beyond first base would have been held up all summer by Andrei Gromyko, who might have succeeded in vetoing the use of relief pitchers, thus killing off all Yankee and Dodger prospects from the outset.

The thought of what "Grommy" might have done to Joe Page is enough to make a Yankee fan collapse.

Anyhow, thanks to the use of one language and the lack of steering committees, trusteeships, deadlocks or diversity of costume baseball has come through on time. The series will take place as scheduled and nothing Vishinsky does or Pravda says will bother us much.

Herculean will be the feats on the diamond but for prodigious effort the Oscar will have to be awarded to the fan who ssucceeds in getting two seats for one game.

The hysterical struggle for tickets there has reached new heights for madness. Elmer Taschell has done the one thing open to him. He has dug up a soapbox and placed it outside a saloon where television pictures of the series will be shown and wrapped himself up in blankets.

"I am the first man in front of the saloon," he declares. "And I will sit there until the series opens."

Mr. Vishinsky Explains

A gentle dove of peace am I.
World order is my aim;
I never use a warlike word
Without the deepest shame,
All violence I do abhor
And rough stuff leaves me sick
A threat against a little land
Will stir me to the quick.

II

Alone upon this troubled earth
The Kremlin cries for peace;
From all misunderstandings we
Alone demand release.
A paper that hits anyone
We frown upon and smite;
Behold our gentle Pravda with
It's sweetness and its light!

Henry Kaiser, we learn from John Gunther's book, began his business career running a camera store at Lake Placid, N. Y. Nothing he has attempted since has seemed out of focus.

Word from the Tomcat

By TRUMAN TWILL

A timely note from T. Manville Twill, the traveling tomcat, deals with hurricanes in Florida and related topics. The note was mailed in Miami, where the former pride of the twillery arrived recently to spend the winter.

"The big thing in hurricanes," he writes after explaining his whereabouts and the weather, "is to keep your tail down. Any cat born and reared in windy country knows why this is so. Once the wind gets under your tail, if it's not a summer breeze, you can't be sure what will happen next. It's very unnerving.

"This is especially true of cats with large fluffy tails, which have the same effect as sails when the wind blows hard. But it is not only the effect of the wind on the tail itself that a cat needs to worry about. It is the effect of the wind getting underneath him. A cat is likely to become air-borne under these circumstances.

"I know what I am talking about because it happened to me the first day the wind got to blowing good down here. I had been facing into it and should have known from the way it was whistling past my whiskers that something was about to happen. Finally I ran out of breath and turned my back. The next thing I knew I was up a palm tree and had almost sailed out to sea. I kept my head. Getting down out of that tree was no joke, I can tell you.

"Everything goes haywire in a hurricane. The wind blows and so does everything else. If you know what I mean. It's like a picnic, all bars are down. Everybody gets friendly. I got acquainted with cats that wouldn't have looked twice at me in calm weather. If it weren't for the wind it would be nice to have a hurricane often. It breaks up the monotony and gives people something to talk about.

"That's one of the best things about this place. Things are always happening. Al Capone dies. They have a hurricane. Or they're afraid they will have a bad year. Always something. There's no such thing as dull routine in Florida, I guess. Routine was one of the things I wanted to get away from when I left your place, and I've really gotten away from it. When that big wind got under me and I sailed into that palm tree I figured I was done with routine forever. I was headed for the open sea and I can't even swim good in a goldfish pond, to say nothing of an ocean with waves as big as houses.

"If you want to get in touch with me, write in care of General Delivery. I am personally acquainted with the cat in charge of small game in the main postoffice, a calico manx named Missy. She's really a cutup, that cat. More fun than a barrel of mice. Remember, if the big wind ever whistles past your whiskers, don't let it get under you. Keep your tail down, if you'll pardon the expression."

OCT. 31 DEADLINE SET FOR UNION REPORTS

By The Associated Press

...SHINGTON, Sept. 25—Labor ... be given until Oct. 31 ... the national labor re... board that they have ... members with financial ... required by the Taft-... act.

The new deadline came to light today following a ruling by Robert ... NLRB general coun... that unions which fail to fill ... he will provide will lose ... standing before the board. ... means any cases the unions have pending may be tossed out ... they will be unable to file ...

The ruling already has resulted ... temporary suspension of cases ... the big machinists ... which previously had satis... Denham's first two require... (1) filing of a similar ... financial statement with the ... department and (2) filing with the NLRB of affidavits by union officers that they are not Communists and do not hold Communist views.

Oct. 31 also is the deadline for the non-Communist affidavits.

The Machinists' union, an organization independent of the AFL or CIO, won the first two union shop elections the NLRB has conducted under Taft-Hartley law terms.

But it was discovered that the union had not, as yet, distributed a financial report to its members. The Machinists will do so, officials said today, by publishing the statement in their next monthly magazine in early October.

Meanwhile, Denham is refusing to go ahead with any further elections asked by the Machinists' international or its more than 1,000 locals. And he has set the Oct. 31 deadline for these and all other unions to fulfill the requirement. The NLRB has about 5,000 cases on its docket.

Top AFL and CIO officers will decide at their conventions two weeks from now whether they will sign the non-Communist forms.

Laying Asphalt Tile

Q. I would like information on how to lay asphalt tile.

A. If you cannot get professional help and must do the job yourself, you will need mastic cement, a paste spreader, a linoleum knife and a blowtorch for cutting and trimming. The concrete floor must be dry, clean, smooth, and with no kind of finish nor paint on it. Spread the mastic cement and then press the tile down into place. Be careful not to put down too much cement, for it will ooze out between the tiles. To cut the tile, soften it with the blowtorch and cut with linoleum knife.

Damp Walls In Basement

Q. Our basement kitchen walls were plastered over the rough stone foundation. One side faces the lawn. We waited a year, then decided it would be safe to size, flat-coat and then enamel. Now, after two years, the recent rainy weather has messed us up. Damp spots have come through, causing the paint to mildew and peel off, and the plaster to soften. Can any waterproofing be applied over this surface? It has now been sandpapered. We would like to size, then enamel later on. Or can you suggest anything else

A. The type of plaster that you used is not suitable on masonry below grade. I do not advise you to try it again. Your best move will be strip off the plaster, scrub the walls clean of all traces of it, using a fibre brush and steel wool or a wire brush. The walls then should be plastered with a waterproofed, white portland cement mortar, preferably applied over self-furring metal lath. Try to get professional help.

Squeaking Faucet

Q.: We have a faucet in our bathroom sink that squeaks every time it is turned on or off. It is very annoying. I have tried oiling it, but the oil does not seem to help. What would you suggest?

A.: A squeak in a faucet stem can be eliminated by unscrewing the six-sided nut surrounding the stem under the handle, then placing hard grease inside of the nut. The grease can be obtained from your local auto service station. If it is not available, rub some hot paraffine on the stem.

Oil Burner Information

J. Where can I get information on the care, operation and maintenance of oil burners, also hot water heating plants?

A. "Oil Burner Handbook," written by L. J. Whelan and published by the Master Plumber and Heating Contractor Magazine, 383 Washington Street, Brooklyn, N.Y., may help you understand the function and operation of oil burners. Theo. Audel & Co., 49 West 23rd Street, New York City, publishes a number of mechanics' handbooks, some on the installation of heating systems. Write them for a catalogue of the various books they publish.

OHIO BUILDING PLANS SHOWN PROGRESSING

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25—Progress of the state building program was shown today in a report of public works director George B. Sowers to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

Work soon will begin on installation of a new boiler and power plant equipment at the state penitentiary, Sowers said.

Second call bids placed the cost at approximately $336,000 for the penitentiary work and most of the labor will be supplied by inmates.

Construction plans are to be released soon for an Ohio State university recitation building for which the legislature appropriated $840,000.

Within two weeks, bids will be received on re-roofing the statehouse annex.

Bids on a $300,000 power plant for the state agricultural experiment station at Wooster have been received, and for construction of a new dormitory, class room, student center and student health building at Kent State university. Kent projects will total approximately $1,800,000.

Bids received include those for a $100,000 wing at the women's reformatory at Marysville.

Sowers' report said bids on the Wooster, Kent and Marysville projects were below estimate. He recommended that they be awarded.

Bids totaling $97,304 for construction of a dining room annex for patients at Longview hospital, Cincinnati, were awarded, he said, and bids for a stoker and boiler at Longview are to be received Oct. 14.

Bids on a gymnasium and swimming pool for the state supported college at Wilberforce are to be received Oct. 15. Legislative appropriations of $150,000 are available for these projects.

Judges Seek Winners Among 537 in Store Window Contest

Judges are still busy today checking the 537 entries submitted last night in the "misplaced merchandise" contest sponsored by Marion retail merchants and the Chamber of Commerce.

Contestants armed with entry blanks and pencils were out early in the evening scanning the store windows where entries were placed. Contest hours were to have been from 7:30 to 10 p. m., but officials reported many apparently started immediately after supper.

Since no guards were stationed at the windows before 7:30 o'clock, the nearest correct entry submitted first will be awarded first prize. Officials stated, however, that many who started early probably were misled, because a number of the window displays were not completed until just before the starting hour.

The first entry was submitted at 7:32 p. m. by Angeline Marnich of 206 East Mark street. All blanks were marked with the time they were turned into the Chamber of Commerce office. So far the largest number of items located and listed has been 31 out of a possible 39, according to officials.

Judges are members of the Marion Chapter, National Secretaries association.

Merchants who cooperated and the misplaced articles in the windows were: Blakes Florists, necktie; Carroll's Jewelry Store, head scarf; Color Center Paint Co., tea pot; Cripps Paint and Glass, bottle of fish bait; Dan Cohen Shoe Store, boxed jewelry; Dugan's Clothing, bowling ball; Frank Bros., screw driver; Gallaher's Drug, pair of men's hose; W. Portsmouth Officials Embarrassed by Arrest

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., Sept. 25—Three of Portsmouth's city officials today were recovering from embarrassment caused when they were arrested and charged with trespassing yesterday in connection with city activities.

The charges were filed by Walter Hannah, Portsmouth fill dirt owner, who alleged the city was using his dirt to top a football field when the contract called for use of the dirt for a floodwall.

He threatened grand larceny action if the removal of dirt did not stop.

E. G. Littleton, city manager, Charles Stevenson, city engineer, City Solicitor Walter Dickey and two contractors, Ralph and Sam Frowine, were released on their own recognizance after appearance in police court.

U.S. REQUESTS MOVE IN COURT MARTIAL

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 25—The court martial of Lt. (jg) Richard F. Gascoigne of Lorain, O., had before it today a prosecution request that the court adjourn to New Mexico to hear testimony of a government witness who thus far has been prevented by illness from appearing here.

Gascoigne is charged with mistreating a fellow prisoner in a Japan prison camp.

As the convening authority of the court martial, Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger, 11th Naval district commandant, is expected to decide today whether the testimony of former Army Sgt. Robert L. Dunlap of Carlsbad, N. M., is of sufficient importance to warrant moving the hearing to the New Mexico City.

Dunlap is one of four former prisoners Gascoigne is accused of mistreating.

The other three former prisoners named in the charges have testified at the court martial. Two praised Gascoigne during their testimony.

continuation of a business because it failed to offer investment opportunities.

"The present profit rate is in large part dependent upon a greatly increased volume of business. Perhaps a 10 per cent reduction in volume without price adjustments would cause a loss, rather than a profit.

"A price resistant market which required a selling price reduction of as little as five to 10 per cent of present prices could promptly change operating results from black to red.

"Our records show that costs of plants, machinery, equipment and tooling for new production are now at least double and often triple 1939 costs.

"Our reinvestment for current and future progress has been, since the end of the war, considerably in excess of the earned profits for the two-year period."

Production Needed

Reduction of current prices to "some lower level," he concluded, "must come from an acceptance by everyone of the principle of improved productivity."

Other management representatives asked to testify at the hearing included F. C. Lewman, president, Richman brothers; Louis S. Bing, president, Bing Co.; and Jay D. Runkle of Crowley, Milner and Co., Detroit.

During the first two days of hearing, a number of union and consumer representatives have emphasized what they feel is the need for restoration of price controls—a rollback to previous OPA lows.

But this argument, in the view of U. S. Senator John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) a committee member, has virtually no chance of realization.

"Prices in general," he said in an off-the-floor interview, "will never return to their prewar levels and we may as well recognize this fact.

"It might be possible to freeze prices at present levels, although I doubt if congress would pass even such legislation at this time. . . ."

In testimony yesterday, Jack Hayes of Akron, past president of the Eastern Ohio Restaurant association., declared the main solution to high food costs was "to curb government buying of foods."

Another witness—Jack Lencl, a veteran representing the Glenville ARA community council—said he thought the hearing was largely a waste of time and implied that the hearing had been "prejudged."

Buyers Called Negligent In Examining Purchases

By The United Press

NEW YORK—Prof. Karen Gillespie of New York university's school of retailing, is convinced that the consumer should be told all about the article he is purchasing and that the average shopper would find it profitable to become more inquisitive.

"Our ideal would be to have people know all the important facts about whatever they are buying," she told a group of teachers and summer school students who gathered for a special all-day conference on consumer education.

Prof. Gillespie said she practices what she preaches in getting students to develop consumer interest. If she tells her students about furniture, she gets them to turn tables and chairs upside down to see how they were made. If the lecture is on jewlery, she removes a bracelet or ring and explains how the jeweler formed silver into flowers and oxidized them to highlight the design.

"It's a surprising fact," she said, "that a student who may be planning for a career in retailing never bothered to examine the workmanshop on articles he has lived with all his life."

The collision occurred off Iroquois, Ont., about 23 miles west of Massena and 17 miles east of Ogdensburg.

Capt. L. E. Pain of the Milverton, hospitalized in Ogdensburg, said "the tanker must have jammed her steering gear. She cut directly across my bow. There were no possibilities of stopping my ship, and we struck her amidships."

RED HEADQUARTERS IN ITALY BOMBED

By The United Press

ROME, Sept. 25—The Communist regional headquarters building at Milan was bombed today in the first major outbreak of deliberately planned violence since the party opened an aggressive campaign against the government three weeks ago.

A TNT explosion at the door of the Communist headquarters building tore a six by three foot hole in the entrance, shattered stairs to the upper floors, wrecked the library and custodians' room and broke most of the windows on the first two floors.

All 20 persons living in the building escaped injury. The building custodian discovered the bomb just before it is exploded. The waiting bombers fired pistol shots at him to prevent interference. He fell on the floor and thus was saved from the blast and flying fragments.

A Milan police officer said that such incidents were "especially regrettable because they introduced violence into a highly tense political atmosphere. Such methods are likely to draw retaliation in kind."

Police said three men and one woman planted the bomb near the right pillar at the entrance to the building. They said the woman joined in the shooting at the custodian.

As the lines were being drawn for the struggle over leftist participation in the government, a coalition of six parties led by the Communists was shaping up.

TRIESTE GENERAL STRIKE SETTLED AFTER 24 HOURS

Government Reaches Agreement with Shop Workers.

By The Associated Press

TRIESTE, Sept. 25 — A general strike which paralyzed shipping in Trieste's port for 24 hours was brought to an end early today.

The Allied military government of the new free territory announced that an agreement to call off the strike had been reached at a midnight conference attended by AMG officials; leaders of the Sindacati Unici, which ordered the work stoppage; and of the moderate, non-Communist Camera Del Lavoro, which refused to participate.

Both unions claimed a "moral victory" and military government officials made no effort to conceal their pleasure at having the strike ended. The British - American AMG had feared that the work stoppage might embroil it in an East-West political struggle with the Leftist Labor movement. About 12,000 workers were idle during the strike.

MIDDLE VIEW TAKEN BY TAFT ON EUROPE

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE, Sept. 25 — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) chose the middle of the road on foreign policy questions today as he carried to Tacoma a Republican vote-seeking campaign enlivened by his wife's lampooning speech against the Democratic administration and labor leaders.

The Ohio senator was prepared to resume the center of the stage with an important foreign affairs address in Tacoma tonight after bowing gracefully out of the Seattle spotlight in favor of Mrs. Martha Taft, who provided the oratorical fireworks of the day.

Although he has kept his foreign policy ideas largely in the background in the past because of the G.O.P. responsibility assumed in that field by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), Taft has prepared to say that he agrees with neither the extreme "isolationist" nor "internationalist" viewpoint.

He told a group of Washington state young Republicans in an informal conference that he classes himself as being "In the middle of the road."

"There are two extremes," he said. "Those on one side want to shut the door against the rest of the world and those on the other want to give everything we have away to foreign nations. I can't go along with either. I am in the middle of the road."

The senator mentioned the foreign aid issue briefly in a speech to the Seattle Bar association last night, commenting that additional aid to slow-recovering Europe may have to be continued for "possibly three years."

But while Taft discussed this and other issues, Mrs. Taft unwittingly stole the show with a crackling speech before a women's Republican club meeting in which she urged members to work for President Truman's defeat in the 1948 election.

Spent Tropical Storm Moves Toward North

By The Associated Press

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 25—A tropical storm which lost most of its force in its sweep across the Carolinas moved northward today, leaving much rainfall but little property damage from winds in its wake.

The disturbance, originating in the Caribbean, failed to materialize as first feared early today after it had roared across Florida in gusts ranging above 70 miles per hour.

The weather bureau said indications were for the storm's continued northeast movement, passing over the coast line between Cape Hatteras and Virginia capes during the night.

Greatest damage in the Carolinas was reflected in farm reports from scattered communities. Heaviest losses were expected in the cotton crop of the two states, now being harvested.

Hospital Wages War On Old-Age Ailments

By International News Service

CHICAGO—Pain and suffering will vanish from the lives of middle-aged and elder patients, if a newly-planned Chicago hospital achieves its goal.

The institution will be devoted almost exclusively to research and treatment of such diseases as rheumatism, hardening of the arteries, arthritis, kidney ailments, and mental conditions, which usually attack the aged.

Chicago's Mercy hospital will make these problems its special targets. According to Dr. Andrew E. Ivy, vice president of the University of Illinois and a former Mercy interne, it will be well-equipped for the purpose.

Dr. Ivy said the new building will have 30,000 feet of laboratory and research space, which is more than three times as much as any other Chicago hospital. He added:

"Present plans include an entire floor devoted to the study of the causes and cures of ailments of the middle-aged and aged. Medical science has extended the life expectancy figure from 45 years to 65 years and now we will try to take out the pain."

Crop Yield Report At Nagasaki Brings Surprise and Doubt

By The Associated Press

A report from Tokyo of huge crops yields in radioactive soil at Nagasaki brought expressions of surprise and some skepticism today from American atomic scientists.

Increases of from 50 to 300 per cent over the normal yield were reported to Kyodo news agency by Takeo Furuno, Japanese agricultural expert who is conducting experiments in the center of the blast zone just outside atom-bombed Nagasaki city.

In Chicago Dr. Austin M. Brues called the report "interesting" and said "anything is possible." He added that he was acquainted with Furuno and considered him a competent agriculturist. Dr. Brues, a University of Chicago atomic scientists, visited Nagasaki last winter.

Dr. George Gamow, a Washington, D. C., scientist, said that normally radioactivity would hinder rather than help the growth of crops and added that the Nagasaki report "looks very strange."

Another Washington scientist, Dr. Ugo Fano said, "if it is true, it is a phenomenon not generally known to science or it would have been tried before."

Dr. Fano, a member of the federation of atomic scientists, told a reporter:

"Perhaps the explanation is that the decayed matter in abandoned ground around the blast area acted as a fertilizer."

Dr. Stafford L. Warren, dean of the medical school at the University of California at Los Angeles, said he did not believe there was enough radioactivity anywhere in the bombed areas to account "for the bumper crops reported from Japan."

Youth for Christ Services Saturday

Dr. Henry Savage, pastor of First Baptist church at Pontiac, Mich., radio minister and director of the Maranatha Bible conference at Muskegon Lake Michigan, will speak at a Youth for Christ service Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Masonic hall in Marion. Special music will be by a group of singers from Mansfield, it was announced. Dr. C. E. Hershey, director of the Marion Youth for Christ movement, will be in charge.

A native of Colorado, whose boyhood was spent on a western ranch homestead, he studied at Moody Bible institute in Chicago, Ill., and his first pastorate was at Barron, Wis. He has served the church at Ponitac 23 years.

In 1936, he became director of Bible conferences at Lake Harbor, Mich., developing the Maranatha conference which is today considered one of the largest and most successful Christian conference centers in the country. A son, Robert Savage, a missionary in South America, was in Marion at the July Youth for Christ service. He is stationed at Quito, Ecuador, where Dr. Hershey visited on a missionary tour earlier this year.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NEWARKITE, 19, GETS 8-TO-100-YEAR TERM

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25 — James Allen Westlake, 19, of Newark, O., was sentenced to eight to 100 years in the Mansfield reformatory today after he pleaded guilty to charges of kidnaping, auto theft and robbery.

He was one of six prisoners who escaped from the reformatory last May 26. Westlake was caught after stealing an automobile in Indianapolis and robbing and kidnaping a Connersville, Ind., man.

Today's sentence was based on these crimes:

Robbing and kidnaping Oliver J. Chaney, a Columbus auto sales lot attendant, who was left tied in a barn, and Robbing and kidnaping Frank Pickler, 37, of Columbus, who escaped from his own automobile near Rome, O.

Westlake attempted unsuccessfully to escape from jail here several weeks ago when he threatened Robert Miles, jail record clerk, with a pistol made of soap.

Peter Albietz, attorney for Westlake, pleaded for leniency on the ground that Westlake "never had a chance"; that his troubles began when he was sentenced to the boys industrial school for swimming without a bathing suit.

William C. Bryant, assistant prosecutor, told Judge John R. King that Westlake began a career of crime at the age of 12.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister—on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesi or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing—so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer—and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

Courts and His Own Conscience Lead Convict on Fantastic Jail Career Whirl

By International News Service

[illegible], Ill.—Like the fabulous Count de Monte Cristo, Monti [illegible] of Iroquois county, Ill., is a convict behind towering prison [illegible].

But unlike his famous namesake, Monti Crist is there of his own accord.

Monti Crist arrived at Joliet State Prison April 5, 1926, to serve a sentence of from one to 10 years for larceny. In December, 1929, he was paroled.

Transformation Too Much

However, Monti Crist found the transformation from prison life to ordinary civilian life too much for him. Unnerved by the sudden change he violated the conditions of his parole. On Oct. 22, 1943, he was returned to prison.

Unlike the ordinary prisoner, it was not Monti Crist's destiny to serve out uneventfully the remainder of his sentence. On June 16, 1945, a federal court judge held that Monti Crist was illegally held and ordered him released.

Once again Monti Crist found himself a free man, this time with no parole strings attached. He determined not to repeat his earlier mistakes. He traveled east, and got himself a job. For nearly two years he worked and prospered and rehabilitated himself.

And then Monti Crist's little world crashed about him. He learned in roundabout fashion, that the federal circuit court of appeals had reversed the decision of the lower court.

Monti Crist thoughtfully weighed this bewildering problem. Once again the grey walls would be his home.

His whereabouts was unknown. He could, for a time, anyway, evade arrest. Monti Crist made his decision.

Word reached Warden Joseph E. Ragen at Joliet from Monti Crist. The message said simply: "I'm coming in. Please don't declare me a fugitive." Ragen waited.

A few months ago, a slim little man, tired with weight of prison years was ushered into the warden's office.

"I'm Monti Crist," he said—and stood quietly waiting.

Today, Monti Crist is still waiting, but he is waiting patiently as day by day time whittles the hours from the nine months he still owes on his debt.

On Christmas day, this year, Monti Crist will again find himself a free man.

red tape, and said it had just arrived this morning.

Ask $22,400,000,000

The 16-nation Paris conference is asking for some $22,400,000,000 of outside help, mostly from the U. S. in the next four years.

Mr. Truman said he also is counting on Latin America to give a hand. He said no conference with Latin American nations has been called but they will be kept informed of developments.

The problem to which the report of the Paris conferences is devoted, Mr. Truman said in his statement, "not only underlies the political and economic well-being of Europe, but is also of key importance to a stable peace in the world.

"The people of the United States recognize, as do the people of the European nations, that the earliest practicable achievement of economic health and consequent political stability in Europe, is of utmost importance for the peace and well-being of the world."

California Jury To See Yacht Murder Scene

By The Associated Press

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 25—With testimony completed, the jury trying Louise Overell and George Gollum on charges of murdering her parents headed for Balboa, nearby beach resort, today to inspect the yacht aboard which the wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell died March 15.

The defense rested its rebuttal case late yesterday after failing to get court permission to show motion pictures of a calf carcass being blown up with 10 sticks of dynamite.

Prosecutor Eugene Williams blocked the motion pictures on the ground the defense experiment did not simulate conditions aboard the yacht, and that the bone structure of a calf weighing 170 pounds, the same weight as Overell, was not comparable to a human.

The jury will return to the courtroom next Monday when Henry A. Dietz, deputy attorney general, will begin the closing arguments for the people.

Fire, Police Pay Hike Asked at Springfield

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Sept. 25—Base pay increases of $40 a month were asked by the 156 Springfield city firemen and policemen today following a two-hour meeting of department members with City Manager Oscar L. Fleckner last night.

The base rate is now $205 and city employes have been receiving a $30 monthly "cost of living bonus" which expires Oct. 1.

Fleckner said he would present the demands to the city commissioners.

Spokesmen for the firemen declared they were "the lowest paid firemen in the state for a city the size of Springfield" and said calculations on an hourly basis would put their pay lower than that of basic laborers.

Theme of the meeting was "Forward With Christ Through Evangelism," and representatives of the Ohio Baptist convention were present to give special messages. Business sessions were held. When the young people's election was held Tuesday night, Miss Ruth Dreyer of Grand Prairie church was reelected president. Other officers elected include Miss Flora Ghisenkamp, Ostrander, vice president; Miss Mildred Temple, Grand Prairie church, secretary; Miss Jacqueline Reed, Springdale, treasurer, and Donald Thurston, Fite Memorial church, Marion, assistant.

GOV. HERBERT MADE 33RD DEGREE MASON

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert was a 33rd degree Mason today but it was unnecessary for the Ohio's chief executive to wait the usual year between nomination for the honor—highest in the fraternity—and formal initiation.

He was nominated yesterday afternoon and initiated with a class of 169 other candidates at colorful ceremonies which highlighted the third day's program of the 135th annual meeting of the northern jurisdiction, 33rd degree Masons, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite.

The supreme council's unanimous decision to waive the one-year waiting period so it could pay tribune to Governor Herbert was described as "a most unusual action" by a council spokesman.

Two other prominent Masons who attained the 33rd degree last night were Harry W. de Bruin, Columbus, O., industrialist, and his attorney son, Walter E. de Bruin of Akron. It was the first time the northern jurisdiction had so honored a father and son at the same ceremony.

Ohio Supreme Court Justice James Garfield Stewart, the former mayor of Cincinnati; Judge Raymond Younger of Celina, chairman of the state pardon and parole commission, and Robert A. Stranahan, prominent Toledo industrialist, were among Ohioans elevated to the 33rd degree.

The supreme council, which concluded its four-day session this morning with a business session, yesterday elected Donal Crist of Canton, treasurer of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, as its active representative for the state.

YOUTH GROUP MEETS

A discussion on the topic, "What Are the Duties of Our County Officials?" was held at a meeting of the local group of the Ohio Rural Youth, Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. Taking part were Isabell Chapman, Norman Withrow and Howard Murphy. Plans were made for a hayride and wiener roast Oct. 11 at the home of Mary Ellen Hinamon. The following were named to plan for the financing of local representatives to the national convention to be held in Chicago Dec. 13 to 16: Hazel Clunk, chairman, Mary Ellen Hinamon, Jane Kull, Clara Mae Ruenmund, Alice Price and Warren Seiter.

Cincinnati Husband Says Wife Sought Cure for Illness.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25—Ruby Seibert, 45, wife of a stationary engineer, was the object of a police search today after her husband reported she left home 12 days ago with $8,700 she had withdrawn from their joint savings accounts so she would "have enough money" to seek a cure for a serious illness, Norwood Police Chief Charles Fritz said.

In reporting his wife missing yesterday, Chief Fritz said the husband, Edward Seibert, 65, turned over to officers a letter purportedly from Mrs. Seibert which declared she wanted "nothing to stand in the way of my getting cured.

"I'll have enough money, thanks to you. The only thing I regret is that I cannot leave any for you."

Chief Fritz quoted Seibert as saying two Cincinnati physicians had advised his wife recently she could not expect to live more than six or eight months unless she received the best of medical care.

going to the dentist. We felt we ought to be grateful. And we were—even after signing a lease that tells every tenant restriction conceived by landlords since the time of the Chaldeans.

But Frances and I both got a feeling of trapped panic when the furniture van drove up to take our things away. The three merry bruisers who were to do the job said there would be nothing to it at all.

Uses Duke's Mixture

"Don't worry, dear, just leave everything to us," the leader said to my wife with that mixture of brash effrontery and kindliness with which furniture movers try to still the housewife's fear of damage to prized belongings.

A moment later he puffed a barrel of kitchen ware to his broad back and headed for the door, ricocheting off our antique walnut desk.

Frances, who had spent a tiring week loading up boxes and cartons, announced. Her nerves were shaky, and she went into another room, pulled down the window shade and stayed in there for a while all alone.

I am helpless against people like furniture movers, waiters and subway guards. So our friend, Laurie Wells, and Jeanie, our half-a-day-a-week maid, took over and bossed the baggage smashers so efficiently that nothing was broken except some symphony records. They hadn't been much use anyway as the man who once loaned us his music box for a spell took it back some time ago.

When the last stick was gone, Frances and I walked together around the bare apartment for the last time. Already it looked strange and foreign—as if it had forgotten us. So many people had lived there in its hundred years.

Miss Old Fireplace

"I'm going to leave the flower boxes and the flower pots," said Frances. "They belong here. But I do wish we could take the old fireplace."

In our new apartment the rules—there are so many rules—forbid outside flower boxes. And a concealed radiator will take the place of our friendly fireplace, the only fireplace I ever lived by that never smoked.

"Well," said Frances, "at least there won't be any mice in the new place. The kitchen has wonderful steel cupboards. I did get so tired of fighting the mice in this old building."

But I don't believe she was really thinking of the mice at all.

We turned the key in the door lock. It gave a farewell click. We walked slowly to the dark stairwell down which my father-in-law had been carried after he was fatally stricken during a visit to New York. We had a memory—some good, some bad—for every worn step.

Outside the sun was shining. As we left our old neighborhood, to keep from thinking of the years we were leaving behind us I comforted myself with the thought that our new apartment will give me a chance to revive one of Manhattan's oldest gags.

"We live near the East river," I can tell inquiring friends now. "If you're ever over that way—drop in!"

Analyst Says Russian Boycott Of UN Needn't Kill Assembly

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The battle in the United Nations between the democracies and the Russian bloc has developed a new angle through the declaration by a Soviet source that the Soviet Union undoubtedly will boycott the "little assembly" proposed by U. S. Secretary of State Marshall if it is established.

The "little assembly" would be a general committee on which all members of the UN would be entitled to representation and it would sit permanently to consider vital matters such as those which now are being sidetracked in the powerful security council by Russian veto. The Muscovites hold that such a committee would contravene the UN charter.

DewittMackenzie

This Soviet threat may be bluff, but if we accept it at face value, for the sake of argument, the question immediately arises whether such a boycott would jeopardize the whole UN. Some observers fear that it might, since it would tend toward a peace organization from which the Soviet bloc would stand aloff.

Rendered Impotent

The answer to this, unfortunately, is that statesmen generally recognize that the UN already has been rendered impotent by Soviet tactics of obstruction. So the little assembly would create no threat to a unity which doesn't exist. The UN already is divided along the same lines as the world at large—the Soviet bloc on the one hand and the rest of the globe on the other.

The ideal solution of these divisions of course would be that advocated yesterday by Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the UN. He made an impassioned appeal to the warring east-west powers to reconcile their differences which he declared were breeding fear and hate throughout the world.

"The indispensable condition for peace," Lie told the assembly, "is that nations with different social systems and different interests shall strive and work together, side by side, in peace. This must find expression in political negotiations which show willingness to compromise. Without such a will * * * no mechanism for the maintenance of international peace and security, however perfect, can be effective."

That obviously is a true bill. However, until the happy day of compromise arrives there would seem to be merit in the effort of the democracies to drag the present UN organization out of the doldrums so that it will be partly effective.

Would Be Effective

As a matter of fact a reconstructed UN could be highly effective, since the majority of the world's nations want to make it work. The absence of Russia and her satellites would be a shocking thing, and it is to be avoided by all reasonable means, but there are many who believe that it wouldn't render the reconstructed organization useless by a long shot. It still could perform a great service for most of the globe.

There are those who would controvert this view by pointing to the late League of Nations and saying it died because the United States declined to join. But that's not true. The league failed, not because of America's absence but because its major members were playing power politics.

The United Nations organization was conceived in the one-world spirit fostered by Allied unity in war. Since then the globe itself has been divided into two camps—the Soviet bloc versus all comers. This being so it strikes us that it isn't strange to get a continuation of the split in the UN. This situation can scarcely be remedied in the peace organization until the global breach is mended.

Meantime the democracies are trying through creation of the little assembly to give the UN a pair of crutches.

WORK IS STARTED ON ROAD PROJECT

Contractor Begins Hillman-Ford Construction.

Walter W. Jornson county engineer, announced today that the U S Construction Co of Upper Sandusky has started work on the reconstruction of County Road No 94 (Hillman-Ford Road) in Big Island and Grand Prairie Townships.

The contract for this work was awarded recently to the Upper Sandusky firm by the Ohio State highway director, and the costs are born equally by the county and the federal public roads administration.

The project is two miles long and calls for the regrading of the berms and ditches, the removal of approximately eighty-five trees, and the laying of a stone macadam base fourteen feet in width over the entire length. The road will then have a one and one-half inch drag treatment of stone and tar mix placed over the macadam.

Vern M Dutton of Mr. Johnson's staff is supervising engineer on the project and James T. Johnston is county inspector.

The road will be closed to traffic while the reconstruction is in progress.

Miss Dianne Wise and Mrs Betty Haines were in charge of a musical program at the fireside chat held by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Sunday night in the Odd Fellows hall. Miss Haines gave a review of the life and work of Stephen Collins Foster and a number of the composer's songs were sung by the group and also presented as solos by Mrs. Martha Wise and Mrs. Haines. Misses Dianne and Gay Wise sang a duet. The opening prayer was by C. M. Knudson, president of the Sunday school. The meeting closed with prayer by Miss Baker. Delvan Dee Hilbert was in charge of the program and Mrs. C. M. Knudson the refreshments.

COLLEGE SETS 2ND DISCUSSION

Kenyon Session on Heritage of English-Speaking Peoples To Open Friday.

By The Associated Press

GAMBIER, O., Sept. 25—The second annual conference on the heritage of the English-speaking peoples and their responsibility—a three-day discussion of the basis for social living—opens tomorrow at 123-year-old Kenyon college.

"The most vital considerations of peace, of domestic harmony, and of personal well-being require us to know what in truth it is that we rever and will uphold," conference leaders explained.

Running the gamut from politics through literature, with stops en route for philosophy, economics, labor-mantgement and manners, the conference closes Sunday.

Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R-Minn), a conference on the Taft-Hartley labor law, and Victor Reuther, director of education for the CIO United Automobile Workers union, will provide this year's conference high point with a discussion on labor management problems Saturday afternoon.

Started Last Year

Launched successfully last year, the Kenyon conference is based on the statement that "beneath law, policy and our daily thoughts and actions lie uncriticized assumptions of fitness and right."

"Those assumptions, formed during countless generations and in many lands, constitute our heritage," conferees said.

To examine this heritage, its use and usefulness, statesmen, scholars, divines and businessmen will spend three days in open discussion.

"This conference," said Kenyon President Gordon K. Chalmers, "is not concerned with immediate national decisions, nor with blocs of power, nor even with preserving something simply because it has been pleasant to have.

"It is designed x x x to julge as sharply as possible the facts about our political, religious, literary and scientific performance, in order to make more precise our knowledge of what we mean to the world and how we may apply that meaning to the general good."

Several Speakers Booked

Speakers include author Eric Bentley of the University of Minnesota; mathematics professor Maurice Frechet of Paris' Sorbonne; poet Robert Hillyer; philosophy professor Sidney Hook of New York University; dramatic critic Louis Kronenberger of New York, and several others.

South Africa will be represented by Julius Lewin, senior lecturer in native law and administration from the University of Witwatersrand, Johannesburg.

From England will come Norman MacKenzie, assistant editor of the New Statesman and Nation, and H. T. Wade-Gery, Wykeham professor of ancient history, Oxford university.

From Scotland, Thomas Johnston, former Secretary of State for Scotland.

Tomorrow's program includes discussions on politics by editor John Fischer of New York and law under Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, former Ohio lieutenant governor and former ambassador to Belgium.

Philosophy and literature also will be viewed by other speakers.

Steel Executive Denies Firms Cripple Output

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 25—Vehement denial that the steel industry is laying down on production, refusing to build more mills so that profits can be jacked up, was issued here today by Frank Purnell, president of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.

His statement comes in the wake of charges by U. S. Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) who told the American Bar association in convention this week in Cleveland that steel corporations have limited production to preserve profits.

Instead, some steel companies, Purnell said, are sacrificing profits in order to keep output going.

"Speaking for my own company," Purnell said, "never have we worked more diligently to make every pound of steel possible. We have been impressing on our organization the extreme need for maximum output."

All Physically Handicapped Asked To Register with OSES

All physically handicapped persons in Marion county who are seeking employment have been requested to register immediately with the Marion office of the Ohio State Employment service in order to benefit from the local drive in connection with the National Employ the Physically Handicapped week.

The week of Oct. 5-11 has been set aside all over the nation to put forth increased and sustained effort to assist persons whose physical limitations make it difficult to obtain employment, in securing work which they may ably perform.

At the time when the 1947 committee was organized here, 80 physically handicapped workers were seeking employment through the employment service. Fred B. Scherff, manager of the local OSES office stated today that he is quite sure that there are additional physically limited workers in Marion who desire suitable employment and urges them to take advantage of the services of the OSES office.

At the same time, all employers are urged to analyze their activities to determine the jobs on which physically handicapped workers could be used and place these openings on file at the employment office. Thus, the individual may contact one place and be referred to the position for which he is best suited in the light of his particular physical limitation.

Harold H. Douthitt, president of the Marion Foremen's club and director of industrial relations at the Marion Power Shovel company heads the Marion NEPH committee which held its first organizational meeting for the coming drive on Sept. 16.

Larynx Cancer

Cancer of the larynx is of two kinds.

One, called intrinsic, develops on or under the vocal cords. The other, called extrinsic, begins on the outside of the voice box and quickly spreads to other nearby areas.

It is of great importance to distinguish between these two forms, because both the treatment and the outlook for the patient depend on where the cancer is located.

The cancers within the larynx do not spread as rapidly as do those on the outside. Changes in the voice are almost always the first symptoms to occur in the intrinsic type. These changes may amount to nothing more than huskiness and the tendency to clear the throat repeatedly. Tiredness and smoking make these symptoms worse, and thus the patient is likely to believe that the trouble with his voice is due to fatigue and smoking.

As the condition develops, however, the symptoms become worse until the patient is constantly hoarse. Pain does not occur until much later. At this time also, there may be coughing, shortness of breath, noisy breathing, anemia and loss of weight, as well as some difficulty in swallowing.

In those cases of cancer within the larynx which are diagnosed early and treated by removal of the larynx, about eight out of ten are completely cured and have no recurrence.

The first symptoms of cancer occurring on the outside of the larynx consist of a feeling of throat irritation, a sensation of fullness in the throat, soreness and the tendency to breathe bits of food into the windpipe. A great deal of difficulty in swallowing may gradually develop. Ulcers or sores tend to form on the cancer, and this causes pain and swelling, so that the taking of food is often difficult. Pain in the ear, also, is an outstanding symptom.

Here, as in intrinsic cancer of the larynx, operation seems to be the only hope, but because cancers outside the larynx spread so rapidly, it must be done very early. Early diagnosis of cancer is always of great importance, but it is doubly and triply so when it occurs in this location.

Many authorities think that X-ray and radium treatment are well worth employing in arresting or curing cancers developing within the larynx. Surgery gives much more hope of a permanent cure.

While cancer of the larynx occurs most often in men between forty and sixty, this should not throw others off their guard because it may occur in either sex and at any age.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

S. A. F.: What is meant by functional disorder of the heart? My heart beats rapidly when I awaken and then stops beating rapidly just as suddenly as it began.

Answer: A functional disorder of the heart means that the heart is not working as it should. Your symptoms may be due to such a disorder or to a condition known as paroxysmal tachycardia. You should have a careful examination made by your doctor to determine just what disorder is present; then proper treatment can be carried out.

RECEIVES WORD OF DEATH

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 25—A cablegram had been received here today by Gust and Nick Lianos telling of the death of their brother, James G. Lianos, in Naupactos, Greece, a week ago. He had returned to Greece for a visit with relatives there shortly before the recent war. Caught there by the outbreak of hostilities he was unable to return to the United States. He leaves a wife and two daughters there, as well as the two brothers in Upper Sandusky.

FIRST AIR TRAFFIC OFFENDER

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25—The Franklin county probation department today was investigating Lee E. Gilbert, 21-year-old student pilot of Columbus, who yesterday pleaded guilty to violation of a civilian aeronautics board ruling by flying too low. His light plane crashed in Upper Arlington, Aug. 30. Gilbert was the first person prosecuted here under Ohio's new air traffic code.

Only in SWIFTNING—this special "quick-mix" ingredient for cakes! Swift scientists have found how to make Swift'ning the ideal shortening for all types of cakes. It gives luscious, perfect results—high, feather-light cakes—with either quick-mix or conventional recipes.

Flakier pies than with any other type of shortening! Tests prove that snowy-white Swift'ning makes flakier pastry than other types of shortening.

Crisp digestible fried foods! No other shortening is more digestible than tasteless, odorless Swift'ning. And it contains two important nutritional essentials in greater quantity than shortenings of other types. Try it! In 3-lb. or 1-lb. tins or 1-lb. cartons.

VA Aids Disabled Vets In Choice of Schools

Anticipating capacity enrollments in educational institutions in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky this fall, the Veterans Administration said today it will give all possible assistance to disabled veterans in gaining admission to schools of their choice.

VA Branch Office officials in Columbus said VA training officers will make every effort to place disabled veterans in educational courses they need to complete their vocational training.

The prompt and successful rehabilitation of the disabled veteran is the primary responsibility of VA's vocational rehabilitation and education service. VA said it did not believe any school would refuse to make special arrangements for these veterans if their cases were brought to the school's attention.

As of September 1, there were 10,358 disabled veterans enrolled in schools in the three states under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, including 4,925 in Ohio.

VA Benefits Available Despite Pension Reject

World War II veterans who renounce disability payments for any reason do not lose their rights to other benefits provided by law for them or their dependents, Veterans Administration Branch Office officials report.

VA said these veterans may reapply for disability compensation at any time in the future and that approved awards will be payable from the date of the second application.

VA's ruling is of particular interest to disabled veterans who desire to enroll as officers or enlisted men in the National Guard or Naval Reserve. They may enlist in these units under the law only by waiving their disability payments. Reserve officers are not subject to this restriction, but while receiving active service pay they may not also receive compensation from VA.

Red Investigation Turns Into "Art" Versus "Filth" Debate

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—"I suppose," began Rep. John Rankin, [illegible] Mississippi's greatest authority on literature, "that I am as familiar with English poetry and narrative verse as any member of this house of congress."

Hanns Eisler, the roly-poly part-time Communist, loosened his [illegible] pink lips in a tentative smile.

"And I say," roared the gentleman from Mississippi, thumping the table and blinking in the glare of the movie cameras, "that [illegible] is not poetry. It is filth. Pure filth."

"No sir," wailed Eisler. "It is really great art."

Conversations like this are becoming the house committee on un-American activities committee's way to discover why the state department suddenly changed its mind in 1939 about Eisler's desirability in the United States and gave him a visa to enter the country. And, of course, what Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt had to do with this mental turn-about on the part of the diplomats.

Fine Collection

So fine. There was Eisler, identifying himself as a world famous composer of music, an anti-Nazi refugee from Austria, a writer of music for Hollywood epics, and a virtual, practicing Communist for only two or three months, maybe. Maybe. There also was the white-mustached Sumner Welles, the one-time undersecretary of state, reading aloud letters from his friend of 50 years, Mrs. Roosevelt, about why didn't the state department give Hanns a break?

And let us not forget Rep. John McDowell of Wilkinsburg, Pa., and authority on poetry, himself. He held a sheaf of songs, whose music had been composed by Eisler.

Now this one, entitled 'The Song of Nigger Jim,'" began Rep. McDowell. "You wrote the music?"

"Yah," retorted Eisler in accents Germanic. "A lovely melody."

"And this, 'The Funeral of the Workers,'" insisted Rep. McDowell.

"Yah,' agreed Eisler. "Beautiful music. Beautiful."

There followed a lengthy list of song titles, interspersed with yahs; Eisler had composed the music for them all. He hadn't written the words, but he had read them carefully.

"Obscene," Says Solon

"But they are obscene," insisted the gentleman from Pennsylvania. "They should not go through the mails."

"They are great poetry," insisted Eisler, squeezing the fire off the end of a denicotinized cigaret and lighting a fresh one. He did the squeezing, incidentally, with his bare fingers and how he escaped blisters is a mystery.

"Great poetry?" exclaimed Rep. McDowell. "Why one of these songs ridicules the German law prohibiting abortions."

"Yah," said Eisler. "It is a . . ."

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of N. J., whose face had been growing redder than its normal shocking pink, interrupted: "I would suggest we do not go into this."

The white-thatched congressman from Mississippi ignored the plea of his blushing chairman, delivered his soliloquy on filth and poetry, and this is where we came in. Along about here should go in quotation marks the verses to which the congressional professors objected.

And then I'd go to jail and all I wish is that congress would skip the poetry and stick to the subject. It would make of me a better reporter.

LIPPMANN

of Germany cannot be restored by the United States.

Therefore there can be no German settlement, which is tolerable, by re-establishing the sovereign power of a central German government in a truncated area and dedicated to the unity of Germany. The annexations in the east of Germany demand a radical decentralization of western Germany.

The truncated area will have to be decentralized, not unified, and the German states which are in it will have to take their places within a larger European system and a European economy. Not German unity but European unity, not German self-sufficiency but European self-sufficiency, not a Germany to contain Russia but a Germany neutralized as between Russia and the west, not the Truman doctrine but the Marshall plan, purged of the Truman doctrine, should be the aims of our German policy.

These will be sound aims even if we find it impossible to agree with the Russians on a treaty of peace. For we shall have identified ourselves with a policy which opposes the revival of the German power to threaten her neighbors, not with a policy which would place them in a German-Russian nutcracker, would compel them to choose sides for a third world war, and would make their territory the battlefield of that world war and of the enormous civil war which it would surely precipitate.

Though we could not conclude an agreement with the Russians, we should be identified with a policy which, if an agreement could be concluded, would mean the evacuation of the continent, and the restoration of Europe to the Europeans.

We could then, leave it to the Europeans to decide how much they are willing to have paid in reparations, in concessions and trade agreements, and as ransom, in order to get the Russians to withdraw the Red Army.

If, nevertheless, the Soviet government will not negotiate an agreement, if the price of a settlement is impossibly high, if the ransom is deliberately set in terms which mean that Russia does not intend to evacuate Europe, the situation will be no more dangerous than it is today. But our energies will be concentrated, not dispersed all over the globe, and the real issues will be much clearer.

Chicago Mother Kills Baby Son by Drowning

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 25—Mrs. Ann Brunn, 39-year-old mother of three children, Police Capt. John T. O'Malley said, drowned her baby son in seven inches of water in a bathtub in her home yesterday because "I could not take care of him."

O'Malley said that Mrs. Brunn told him that after drowning her seven-month-old baby, Robert, she later drank a glass of washing bleach and called police. Police and firemen who found the baby in the tub of luke-warm water were unable to revive him. Firemen administered an antidote to Mrs. Brunn and police ordered her held for an inquest today.

GALION UAW HEAD DENIES RED CHARGE

Challenges Testimony Given at Strike Hearing.

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 25—Publication of an affidavit today by Edward J. Duck marks a new procedure in strikes. The affidavit signed by Duck, international representative of the United Auto Workers CIO), is addressed to the general public but excludes the North Electric company management and its attorneys. The company has been closed for five weeks due to a walk-out by prduction workers who seek recognition of their union and an increase in pay.

The affidavit sworn to by Duck, states in part: "That he has never been either a member or a sympathizer of the Communist party. On the contrary he believes he can prove to any sincere rational person that he has opposed the Communist party by thought, word and pen for many years, to an extent certainly unequalled by any member of the North Electric Manufacturing Company's management or its attorneys. To the best of his knowledge there is not one person on the entire staff of the Regional Director, Richard Gosser, who has been or is a member or sympathizer of said Communist party.

"Although there unquestionably are Communists in unions, including the UAW-CIO in certain areas, there are also communists among the clergy, the educators, the publicists, the manufacturers, and all of the professions so respected by the American people, yet this does not imply that all these people are Communists, nor their groups subject to the pointed finger of suspicion . . . . That he believes the so-called Taft-Hartley bill to be nothing but a Fascistic piece of class legislation, the most unconstitutional law ever passed by Congress, a new detriment to the well being of the entire nation. . . . . That this affidavit is freely given to the community of Galion, not to the anti-union North Electric dictatorship. . . . . That he will hereby offer a sum equal to one month wages as international representative of the UAW-CIO to Vice President Lloyd Bender, or Mount Gilead Division Superintendent Hoy Rhodebeck, if they will submit to a lie detector test in regard to their testimony offered at the hearing in the common pleas court of Morrow county, O., Friday, Sept. 19."

A meeting for union members, only, was held Wednesday night in the Maccabee hall to discuss issues in the strike. Duck said that he does not deny that there is a back to work movement.

Superlative Relief Pitching Relieves Worries of Both Bums and Yanks

By FRANK ECK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK—Paging Mr. Page and Calling Mr. Casey!

This could be the monotonous chant among grandstand managers during the 44th World Series.

The Series brings together baseball's two top relief pitchers. Experts agree that without Lefty Joe Page the Yankees would never have cakewalked to the American League pennant. Brooklyn feels the same about Hugh Casey, the chubby right handed spot pitcher.

Casey, who is 33, once handled the bird dogs of Wilbert Robinson, ex-Dodger manager, down in Atlanta, Ga., and Brooklyn fans regard him as a Dodger from away back. However, while Casey had several spring trials with the team, he first appeared in an official Dodger box score in 1939.

In 46 Games

Through Sept. 15 Casey appeared in 46 games for the Dodgers, all in relief, and showed a record of nine victories and four defeats. Until this season his earned run average was 3.06 runs per nine innings for 781 innings.

Casey, who began 1947 with 57 victories and 37 setbacks, was the victim of the most infamous passed ball in baseball history. It happened in the fourth game of the 1941 World Series in Ebbets Field, and against the Yankees, too.

JOE PAGE
Bombers Page Him Often

The first three games were decided by one run with the Yanks winning two of them. The Dodgers looked as if they were going to square the Series at two games each as they began the ninth inning with a 4-3 lead.

The first two batters in the top of the ninth grounded out and Casey, who had allowed but two singles since the fifth when he replaced Larry French with two out, had the situation well in hand.

He was one pitch away from victory when the count ran out on Tommy Henrich, the batter. With a count of three and two Casey had to come in with the next pitch. It was low and inside, a fast breaking curve. Henrich swung and missed for what under the ordinary circumstances would have been the final out of the game.

Ebbets Field Hoodoo

But this game was played in Ebbets Field where ordinary circumstances seldom prevail. Mickey Owen, brilliant Brooklyn catcher who last year jumped to the Mexican League and now is out of baseball, missed the pitch and Henrich went all the way to second base.

The official scorers ruled it a passed ball although on the way to an exhibition game in Hartford, Conn., against a team led by Ted Williams, Casey said to the writer, in the presence of Owen, that it was a difficult pitch to handle and could have been called either a wild pitch or a passed ball. But Owen, who had a habit of stopping even the most errant pitch, said the scorers made a good call.

At any rate, the passed ball opened the door for the Yankees, who during the first four innings had found Kirby Higby for six hits and all three of their runs and hadn't threatened since. With Henrich on second, Joe DiMaggio hit the second pitch to left for a single, sending Henrich to third base with the tieing run. Casey then faced the dangerous Charley Keller, who incidentally is sitting this series out in Frederick, Md., with a lame back. Casey put Keller in a hole, his first two pitches being strikes. But on the third, Keller lashed a vicious double off the right field wall to score both Henrich and DiMaggio.

That was the ball game and what followed was anti-climactic. The Yanks added two more runs for a 7-4 victory and just about sewed up the Series. Bill Dickey walked and both Keller and Dickey rode home on a double by Joe Gordon.

The next day, with Brooklyn fandom still moaning about what happened on the sad sabbath, the Yanks ended the Series with Ernie Bonham pitching a 3-1 four-hit victory.

Charged With 2 Losses

Casey saw action in three of the five games played in 1941 and was charged with two defeats while pitching but five and one-third innings.

Page once regarded as the best prospect to succeed Lefty Gomez for the Yanks—he even wears Lefty's old No. 11—never has been in a World Series. In three previous seasons with the Yanks he won 20 games and lost 18.

He is three inches over six feet, has a blazing fast ball and a good curve. Through Sept. 15 he showed 14 victories, all in relief,

HUGH CASEY
Aims for Revenge

while tasting defeat seven times. He had been in 53 games, only two of which he started and failed to finish.

When anyone talks to Manager Bucky Harris about his starting pitchers Bucky's answer is always the same:

"And don't forget Page. Without him I don't know where the Yankees would be. He is the most valuable man in the league."

Thanks Lucky Stars

Harris still thanks his lucky stars that rival American League clubs refused to make a deal with the Yankees down at St. Petersburg, Fla., last March. Page was one of the players Harris was ready to cast adrift.

Harris had five southpaw pitchers in camp and in his book he ranked Page fifth. Now the Yanks have only one southpaw and his name is Joseph Francis Page, 29-year-old 250 pounder from Cherry Valley, Pa.

"I saw Page last season," Harris says. "When he wasn't allowing hits he was falling all over himself fielding grounders. He lost many a game with his fielding."

Today Harris swears by Page, whose job in the Series will be to keep his left arm limbered up.

With the pitching staffs of the Yankees and Dodgers in a state of emergency it might be that the Series will produce some of the greatest relief hurling in history.

Commercial Steel Knocks Forest Lawn from Series

Bunching their 10 hits where they could do the most good, Commercial Steel shaded Forest Lawn, 9-7, last night at Crystal Lake park eliminating the Sunday school champs of the city softball Little World Series.

Big bat was swung for Commercial by R. Frank, whose homer with the bases loaded in the first scored four runs. J. Frank connected three times for the Industrial loop champs, while Hawkins made three hits for Forest Lawn.

Tonight Commercial will meet Schlairet Transfer for the championship. If Commercial wins tonight, another game will be played tomorrow night. If Commercial loses, Schlairet will be the Little World Series champs for the third straight year.

The game tonight is scheduled to start at 7:15 under the Crystal Lake Park lights.

If the Dodgers do any teeing off in the Series it might be at the expense of Allie Reynolds. The Yankees' big winner has allowed 23 home runs—tops for the season in the majors.

Dodger Pitchers Gregg, Hatten Show Form in Series Warmups

By Associated Press

The 1947 World Series may go down in the book as the "battle of the bullpens" but it hasn't looked that way in the final tuneups of the Brooklyn and New York starters.

Not to be outdone by the Yankees who daily parade a new mound gem, the Dodgers' staff has been showing great form in recent efforts of Joe Hatten and Hal Gregg.

Gregg, who may be the darkhorse of the series, warmed up for series duty yesterday by shutting out the home run-happy New York Giants with one hit over a five-inning stretch. It mattered little that rookie Willard Ramsdell who came in after Gregg was lifted for a pinchhitter blew a comfy lead and the ball game, 6-5. Gregg had looked fine in his turn.

Hatten Looks Good

The day before it was Hatten, the lefty who has specialized in beating second division clubs, going five-innings at a three-hit pace.

Ralph Branca and Vic Lombardi, who figure ahead of Gregg and Hatten in Manager Burt Shotton's scheme of things, got their final dress rehearsals tonight. Lombardi is slated to work three innings in the completion of the unfinished game of Aug. 17 and Branca is slated to go at least five in the regularly scheduled game with the Phillies.

Cincinnati, picked to scramble for the cellar with the Phillies, clinched fifth place, a fine tribute to freshman Manager Johnny Neun. The Reds had to go hard to make it, shading Chicago, 6-5, on a ninth inning home run by Grady Hatton.

Cards Sew Up 2nd

George Munger hurled his second straight three-hitter for his 16th win a 5-1 edge for St. Louis over Pittsburgh, practically wrapping up second place for the Cardinals.

Bobby Feller finally became the first American league pitcher to win 20 games, subduing the St. Louis Browns, 9-1.

The loss eliminated the Browns' last chance of climbing out of the cellar. And the win left the Indians only a half game out of third.

Detroit stretched its second place margin over Boston to a full game by nosing out Chicago, 5-4, in 10 innings before a small night turnout of 2,806 persons at Comiskey park.

All eastern clubs in the American and Boston and Philadelphia in the National were not scheduled.

"Gets Return Match Tonight"

Pavo Ketonen, the Finnish grappler who can also head-butt, gets his chance to even things up when he meets Rufus Jones tonight at the Marion Armory in one of the main events. These two met two weeks ago with Rufus getting the nod from the referee and after the match, the two tangled in the basement with Pavo wanting a return match. The other ninety-minute match is a return between Buck Weaver, the Hoosier football star, and Frankie Clemons of Battle Creek. These two wrestled in a thirty-minute match last week with Clemons winning, now Buck is on the war path for a chance in a two out of three fall match to even things up. Both matches line up as grudge affairs with plenty of action promised. The prelim at 8:30 brings two boys, Fritz Barlow and Pete Copen together. Call 2745 after six for seats. 26 PREXIES TO MAKE JOURNEY TO TIFFIN FOR FRIDAY'S GAME

Harding Eleven Rated Favorites To Cop Win No. 2 Over Columbian.

Coach Pete Howlson will take 26 Prexies to Tiffin tomorrow night for a try at win number two.

Columbian, a new opponent to Harding gridders, is rated the underdog, having dropped both games played this year, 13-7 to Bucyrus, and 17-6 to Port Clinton. Last year Tiffin Columbian won one, tied one, and lost six. Only two lettermen returned to the Tiffin squad this year.

The Presidents have been drilling on offense in practice sessions this week to strengthen what Howlson considers the weak spot in the Harding machine.

Bob Chapman, Harding understudy at left guard, will be out of the lineup for several weeks due to a fractured collar bone sustained in the Harding-Columbus South tilt last week.

The Harding reserves will go to Lima Saturday morning for their second game. Last Saturday the sophomores tied Fostoria, 6-6.

Appreciation Fund For Cubs Started By Baseball Fans

Cub fans are passing the hat this week for an appreciation fund to be presented to Cub players at the end of the season.

John Peacock of Marion, is heading the drive.

Believing that a token of appreciation is due Cub players for the fine record they've turned in this year, Peacock said that a group of fans met last night and decided to make Markert and Lewis store headquarters for the collection.

Cub fans are invited to leave donations there, Peacock said.

Hoping to collect enough money to buy the Cub players wrist watches or other similar gifts, Peacock said that little time remained to fill out the fund. The Cubs will be back in town Saturday and the fans would like to present the gifts then, he said.

The Cubs were deprived of their usual benefit game since they are tied up with the Shaughnessy playoffs. In past years they are son benefit game has been staged proceeds of which go to the Cub players.

Joe DiMaggio of the Yanks is the only current World Series competitor who has batted above .300 in three Series.

"Lippy" Reported Making Plea To Chandler for Old Job Back

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—The Leo Durocher case is back in the news today with a report from a source whose identity cannot be disclosed that the former Brooklyn manager has appealed to Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler for reinstatement and that Chandler has answered the appeal.

"Any correspondence between the commissioner and Durocher would be unnecessary," Walter Mulbry, secretary-treasurer to the commissioner's office, said last night in Cincinnati. "Durocher's suspension was for the season and the World Series. That will be over in a few days."

Although Durocher formally is not listed on the Dodger active roster, the same source pointed out that it was common baseball procedure for a man suspended "from" a club's list to be reinstated "to" the same list.

Burt Shotton, hurriedly named to fill Durocher's job for 1947, has won a pennant and established himself with the Dodger paying customers who set a new National league attendance record of 1,807,586 in the home season completed yesterday.

Shotton and Rickey have refused to discuss 1948 plans but the matter is expected to reach a head after the World Series.

Durocher and his wife, Laraine Day, were due to arrive in New York by plane this morning from California enroute to the Dodger-Yankee series opening Tuesday.

At Los Angeles, Durocher said, "Last winter I said I hoped to manage Brooklyn until the day I died; that still goes."

Muncie Thumps Marion, 7-1, in Playoffs

Bill Rosin Nominated To Pitch For Bruins in Tonight's Game

Special To The Star

MUNCIE, Ind., Sept. 25—Right hander Walter Post halted the Marion Cubs in their tracks here last night, 7-1, to enable the home team to win its first victory in three attempts in the Shaughnessy playoff between the two clubs.

Manager Nelson Burbrink, whose team won two at home Monday and Tuesday will start Bill Rosin tonight's encounter here and Manager Mike Blazo will counter with his 20-game winner, Walt Post.

Post allowed only six hits, walked two and fanned 10 and was robbed of a shutout in the seventh frame by infield hits by Burbrink and Bob Shuford, an error by Tom Florence and a wild pitch.

After the second frame Walt allowed only two Marion runners to reach first base.

Al Spaziano, catcher, and Billy Ford, third baseman, led the Muncie attack with two hits each and Bob Montag hit his second homer in as many nights, a 390-foot blast inside the park with Shuford on base in the third.

The Packers had trouble hitting Jerry Jim Sabens who allowed only six blows but walked seven.

TIGERS HEAD FOR OHIO

Ohio State's Fesler Tells Off "High Street Quarterbacks"

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25—That amazing Wesley Fesler is at it again, talking things up with a reverse English that must seem as confounding to the rest of the coaching world as it does to the rabid Ohio State Buckeyes' partisans around here.

Fesler has been priming the pump with oratory ever since he became the Bucks' fifth coach since 1940 in a move last winter following Paul Bixler's resignation and shift to Colgate.

He banged away for a while at southern football, then came up with a series of speeches, interviews and comments that had the long forgotten "character-building" ring about them.

So last night—just four days before the Buckeyes open against Missouri—Fesler faced 600 ardent Ohio State supporters, including many charter members of the famed Broad and High Streets Coaches association who would have you believe they dictate every move in the university's athletic department, except the signing of paychecks.

This was Fes' first real get-together with the downtown coaches and he kicked off by telling them the boys had promised to outfight every team they meet.

"So if they give everything they've got and still lose, it's all right with me," he declared.

"But if they go all out and give everything they have, and you go around griping and moaning—then to hell with you!"

Surprised! Depends on how apoplexy is measured.

When the men recovered, however, they gave this daring young man a big hand. After all, many could remember when Fesler was "Mr. Ohio State," a rawboned All-America during the late 20's. In those days, too, he was a Fesler who played to win.

Something else he said rated extended applause, too.

"We've got four seniors on the squad," he asserted. "Capt. Bob Jabbusch, Jimmy Crane, Howard Duncan and Dave Templeton. If some of you business men don't take advantage of the ability of these four seniors, you're just plain nuts!"

Fesler then got around to the Missouri game by letting Scout Esco Sarkkinen, end coach, report that the most impressive thing about the Tigers in their 19-0 victory over St. Louis U. last week was their experience. Sarkkinen emphasized that Missouri had seven 1946 regulars ready for the Buckeyes.

PHILLIES RELEASE PLAYER

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25 — The Philadelphia Phillies today announced that Lamar (Skeeter) Newsome, veteran major league shortstop, has been given his unconditional release.

IRISH SET TO GIVE CAREY BLUE DEVILS ROUGH TIME FRIDAY

St. Mary Stresses Fundamentals in Tuneup for Try at Toppling Giants.

If hard drilling on fundamentals is the answer, the St. Mary Irish will give Carey Blue Devils a rough time of it tomorrow night at Carey.

Making good his word to begin anew at St. Mary, Coach Gene Fetter has had the Irish out working this week on blocking and tackling in preparation for the first Irish encounter with a Mid-State league opponent.

Lineup changes, however, will probably not prove to be as extensive as Fetter indicated earlier this week while still smarting over the 19-0 setback handed the Irish by Lima St. Rose in the St. Mary home opener last Thursday.

Only starting lineup change to date appears to be Ed Maloney moving up to the first string at end, and Jim Maloney moving from end to tackle to replace Gene Cooper.

Undefeated in two starts this season, and in two previous seasons, the Carey Blue Devils will be shooting for their twelfth straight victory. They're eyeing the Mid-State league championship, too, though they are but junior members of the league, playing in it for the first time this year. Fullback triple-threater Bob Denison should prove to be a big help to Blue Devil aspirations.

The Irish will be looking for their second victory, having topped Delaware Willis in the season opener, 13-0.

Upper Sandusky Players At Heidelberg Injured

Bob Wolfe, fleet-footed Heidelberg college halfback from Upper Sandusky, will be out of the Student Princes' lineup in their opener at Ashland, Friday the college reported. He'll be on the bench for at least a week nursing a twisted knee.

Suffering a chest injury resulting in two cracked ribs, Charles Slemmer, freshman tackle, also from Upper Sandusky, may be unable to play for the Princes for the entire season.

Draft Evader Sentenced To 18 Months in Prison

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25—U. S. district court was clear today of all trials of accused military draft evaders with the conviction of Alfred Gene Kieselbach, 30, of Cleveland.

As his own attorney, Kieselbach argued before the court that he should have been deferred as "a minister of Jehovah's Witnesses." Judge Paul Jones sentenced him to 18 months in federal prison.

In other cases yesterday, these three men also were convicted: Joseph R. Dylong of Monroe Center, O.; Richard Ralph Emerson, 20, of Ashtabula, and James Renwick Miller, 26, of Warren, O.

Dylong and Emerson got 18-month terms and Miller, two years. Miller filed notice of appeal and bond was fixed at $2,000.

The court said Miller failed to report for service as a conscientious objector Nov. 6, 1945.

Navy Club Names 3 On Home Committee

E. L. Cleveland, Henry Uline and E. N. Breithaupt were named to represent the Marion Navy club on the Veterans home committee at a meeting of the club Monday night. Plans also were discussed for taking part in the parade to be held by members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars attending the Tenth district conference here Saturday and Sunday. The parade will be held Sunday afternoon at the close of the meeting.

Other matters of business included a discussion of the disposition of the club's ship. Due to the fact there is no available place to store the ship, used by the club in parades and other patriotic events, some action must be taken and a place provided for storage or place it in the discard, the members state.

WEST POINT TO TAKE 4 OHIO GUARDSMEN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25—Four members of the Ohio National Guard will be selected to enter the United States Military Academy at West Point with the class of 1948, Adj. Gen. C. W. Goble of Ohio announced today.

Goble said that Gov. Thomas J. Herbert had been authorized to appoint the four enlisted men selected by competitive examinations.

To be eligible for the West Point appointment, candidates must be members of federally-recognized guard units, unmarried, high school graduates or have equivalent education, and between the ages of 19 and 22 unless they served one year in the armed forces during the war, in which case the age limit is 24.

Mental examinations will be given prior to Nov. 15. Successful candidates will take an entrance exam on March 21, 1948, and, if they pass, will enter West Point next July 1.

case was brought out in an exchange of correspondence between her and Welles, then undersecretary of state, early in 1939.

In one which bore the salutation "Dear Sumner," Mrs. Roosevelt suggested that the Eisler case be reopened to give Eisler an opportunity to "defend" himself. She said a "perfectly honest" friend of the composer had told her that Eisler was not a Communist.

In a later memo, Mrs. Roosevelt referred to the case as "a hard nut to crack."

The former first lady told reporters at Lake Success, N. Y., that her correspondence concerning Eisler was routine and that she had simply passed on "for consideration" a name which had been sent to her. She did this in many cases, she said, adding that she did not know Eisler.

Two budgets submitted, one requesting $400 filed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for July 4th fireworks and a request from Blaine Memorial Lighthouse for church relief, were rejected by the board. No "war" funds were included in this year's budget. The campaign is scheduled to open Oct. 20.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I CLENCHED my fingers into my palms at Noel's question, and prayer for grace to keep from smacking his face because of his smug blindness.

He had no more idea of the problem his wife was facing, I told myself, than if he had been at Hottentot! And despite my wrath, I grimaced inwardly at the comparison I was making.

"The thought of having a child would upset Mary emotionally," I told him. "She would welcome that, and take the task in her stride gloriously, as she does everything."

"Then what?" he asked in bewildered fashion, and I leaned forward and looked him squarely in the eyes.

"Noel," I said, "do you believe that I have your best interests and Mary's close to my heart?"

His eyes softened, and he stretched out his hand in an impulsive gesture.

"You know I believe that," he said. "How could I believe anything else with the record of the years before me?"

"Then will you listen patiently to me while I tell you a few things I think you do not know, or perhaps have buried in your subconscious?"

Eyes Restive

His eyes were again restive, but he held to his courtesy.

"You know I will listen to anything you may choose to tell me," he said. "But I cannot promise beforehand to agree with what you say."

"I'm not asking you to do that—yet," I told him.

Then I looked at him steadily again.

"Noel, of course you are closest to Mary's thoughts of anybody, but will you remember that I virtually brought her up? That I am responsible for her having her place in your father's organization, and that I really know a great deal of what is going on in her mind and heart?"

"Of course I know that," he conceded generously. "Sometimes I think you know her better than I do."

From somewhere within me there was an echo of one of Mary's slang phrases: "And how!" But I let no hint of my conviction escape me.

"Oh, never that, Noel!" I said, putting stress upon the words. "In almost everything, you are best able to judge of her reactions. But may I tell you that I believe you may not understand her possible reaction to this new problem of motherhood versus her career?"

His face was obstinate again but he did not reply, and I went on relentlessly.

"Will you think very carefully before you answer my next question?" I asked. "Much depends on it."

"Of course," he said. "But, pardon me, I fail to see what all the fuss is about. Mary has made her decision."

Just the Point

"That is just the point on which I wish to question you," I said, "and it is because I know Mary so well that I am asking it."

I stopped for an instant, hoping the pause was impressive, and then put my question.

"Was it Mary's original idea that she should give up her stage career for motherhood? Did she suggest it?"

His eyes were opaque as he considered the question, and I knew that he was searching his memory carefully.

Then he flushed painfully.

"No, it was mine; altogether mine," he admitted truthfully. "But she accepted the idea."

His voice was laboriously slow on the words. Then his essential honesty broke through the belief in which he had steeped himself.

"No, I can't say that positively, either," he said. "You know how Mary always makes you believe you're on the top of the world when you're talking to her."

I nodded acquiescence. "Yes, I know very well."

"But, as I look back," he went on, and now his face was brick-red, "I can't remember that she really agreed to what I was saying. Good God, Aunt Madge! Doesn't she want a child?"

I kept my voice even with difficulty.

"You know that is absurd, Noel," I said. "If you could have seen Mary's face when she referred even obliquely to the possibility of parenthood, you would have known, as I did, how much she longs for a child."

He gave a long, shuddering sigh of relief.

"I would have wagered my soul on that," he said.

Then his voice held honest bewilderment.

"But, if that is true," he went on, "I don't understand the rest of what you are saying. How could she have a child, and go on with her stage career?"

Meat Recommended For Babies' Diet

LINCOLN, Neb. — Strained meat, added to the diet of six-weeks-old babies, protects the infants from anemia, according to Dr. Ruth M. Leverton, University of Nebraska nutritionist.

Dr. Leverton's reports was based on a study by the university in cooperation with Lincoln and Omaha pediatricians. The survey, she said, showed that meat improved blood conditions as well as checked the disease.

Nurses caring for infants taking part in the study reported that babies receiving meat generally were "less fussy, and slept better at night," Dr. Leverton said
